DAILY GAZETTE.

From the New York Evening Post.
War Sketches--By a Nortnern Ranger

ADVENTURES OF A SPY.

I have lately returned from the south, but my exact whereabouts in that region, for obvious reasons, it would not be politic to state. Suspected of being a northerner, it was often to my advantage to court obscurity. Known as a spy, a "short shrift" and a ready rope would have prevented the blotting of this paper. Hanging, disguised, on the outskirts of a camp, mixing with its idlers, laughing at their jokes, examining their arms, counting their numbers, endeavoring to discover the plans of their leaders, listening to this party and pursuing that, joining in the chorus of a rebel song, betting on rebel success, cursing abolitionists, reviling Lincoln, traducing Scott, extolling Beauregard, despising northern fighters, laughing at their tactics and sneering at their weapons, praising the beauty of southern belles and decrying that of northern, calling New York a den of cut-throats, and New Orleans a paradise of immaculate chivalry, is qute a small portion of the practice of my profession as a spy. This may not seem honorable or desirable. As to the honor, let the country that benefits by the investigations and warnings of the spy be judged; and the danger, often incurred, is more serious and personal than that of the battle-field, which may, perhaps, detract from its desirability.

It was a dark night. Not a star on the glimmer. I had collected my quantum of intelligence and was on the move for the northern line. I was approaching the bank of a stream whose waters I had to cross, and had then some miles to traverse before I could reach the pickets of our gallant troops. A feeling of uneasiness began to creep over me; I was on the outskirts of a wood fringing the dark waters at my feet, whose presence could scarcely be detected but for their sullen murmurs as they rushed through the gloom. The wind sighed in gentle accordance. I walked forty or fifty yards along the bank. I then crept on all fours along the ground and groped with my hands;—I paused—I groped again—my breath thickened, perspiration oozed from me at every pore, and I was prostrated with horror! I had missed my landmark and knew not where I was. Below or above, beneath the shelter of the bank, lay the skiff I had hidden, ten days before, when I commenced my operations among the followers of Jeff. Davis.

As I stood grasping for breath, with all the unmistakable proofs of my calling about me, the sudden cry of a bird or plunging of a fish would act like magnetism on my frame, not wont to shudder at a shadow. No matter how pressing the danger may be, if a man sees an opening for escape he breathes with freedom. But let him be surrounded by darkness, impenetrable at two yards distance, within rifle's length of concealed foes, for what knowledge he has to the contrary; knowing, too, with painful accuracy, the detection of his presence would reward him with a sudden and violent death, and if he breathes no faster and feels his limbs as free and his spirits as light as when taking a favorite promenade, he is more fitted for a hero than I am.

In the agony of that moment—in the sudd n and utter helplessness I felt to discover my true bearings—I was about to let myself gently into the stream and breast its current, for life and death. There was no alternative. The northern pickets must be reached in safety before the morning broke, or I should soon swing between heaven and earth from some limb of the black forest in which I stood.

At that moment the low, sullen bay of a bloodhound struck my ear. The sound was reviving; the fearful stillness broken. The uncertain dread fled before the certain danger. I was standing to my middle in the shallow bed of the river, just beneath the jutting banks. After the pause of a few seconds I began to creep, mechanically and stealthily, down the stream, followed, as I knew from the rustling of the grass and frequent breaking of twigs, by the insatiable brute; although by certain uneasy growls, I felt assured he was at fault. Something struck against my breast. I could not prevent a slight cry from escaping me as on stretching out my hands I grasped the gunwale of a boat moored beneath the bank. Between suprise and joy I felt half choked. In an instant I had scrambled on board and began searching for the painter in the bow, in order to cast her from her fastenings.

Suddenly a bright ray of moonlight—the first gleam of hope in that black night!—fell directly on the spot revealing the silvery stream, my own skiff, (hidden there ten days before,) lightning the deep shadows of the verging wood, and on the log half-buried in the bank, and from which I had that moment cast the line that had bound me to it, the supple form of the crouching bloodhound, his red eyes gleaming in the moonlight, jaws distended and poising for the spring. With one dart the light skiff was yards out in the stream, and the savage after it. With an oar I aimed a blow at his head, which, however, he eluded with ease. In the effort thus made the boat careened over towards my antagonist, who made a desperate effort to get his forepaws over the side, at the same time seizing hold of the gunwale with his teeth.

Now or never was the time to get rid of the accursed brute. I drew my revolver, and placed the muzzle between his eyes, but hesitated to fire, for that one report might bring on me a volley from the shore. Meantime the strength of the dog careened the frail craft so much that the water rushed over the side, threatening to swamp her. I changed my tactics, threw my revolver into the bottom of the skiff, and grasped my "bowie," keen as a Malay creese, and glittering, as I released it from the sheath, like a moonbeam on the stream. In an instant I had severed the throat of the hound, cutting through brawn and muscle to the nape of the neck. The tenacious wretch gave a wild, convulsive leap out of the water, then sunk and was gone.

Five minutes' pulling landed me on the other side of the river, and in an hour after, without farther accident, I was among friends, encompassed by the northern lines. That night I related at head-quarters the intelligence I had gathered, and in a few days shall again be gleaning knowledge in the southern camp.

At a colored ball the following notice was posted on the door-posts: "Tickets 50 cts. No gentleman admitted unless he comes himself."

Those tickets were evidently not transferable.

TESTIMONIAL.
To Whom it May Concern:

I AM now over 60 years of age. Three years since I became blind from Cataract in both eyes. Soon after I became blind an attempt to restore my sight by an operation was made in this city, which was unsuccessful. Hearing of the reputation of Dr. Folsom, as a skillful oculist, I was induced to consult him, though with very little hope of relief. The doctor proposed an operation, to which I consented, which resulted in almost Perfect Restoration of Sight to one eye. He afterwards performed an operation on the other eye with success. I am now enjoying the inestimable blessing of good vision, and a much better general state of health than before. THOS. VAUGHN.

and we challenge the closest examination, confident that such an examination will prove the truth of what we assert.

The goods were bought directly from the manufacturers, and are the BEST CUSTOM WORK
to be found in the market. They have been selected by a person who has been in the trade for the thirty years, and will bear a favorable comparison with anything in the market.

In connection with our Salesroom, we have established A MANUFACTURING DEPARTMENT and engaged a superior foreman who will employ none but experienced and good workmen. We intend to make our work in this department Superior to Anything ever before got up in this city.
ALL WORK WARRANTED.

We ask the attention of the public to our stock of goods confident that we can offer
BETTER INDUCEMENTS
to purchasers than any other traders or manufacturers in this section of the state.

ADVENTURES OF A SPY.

I have lately returned from the south, but my exact whereabouts in that region, for obvious reasons, it would not be politic to state. Suspected of being a northerner, it was often to my advantage to court obscurity. Known as a spy, a "short shrift" and a ready rope would have prevented the blotting of this paper. Hanging, disguised, on the outskirts of a camp, mixing with its idlers, laughing at their jokes, examining their arms, counting their numbers, endeavoring to discover the plans of their leaders, listening to this party and pursuing that, joining in the chorus of a rebel song, betting on rebel success, cursing abolitionists, reviling Lincoln, traducing Scott, extolling Beauregard, despising northern fighters, laughing at their tactics and sneering at their weapons, praising the beauty of southern belles and decrying that of northern, calling New York a den of cut-throats, and New Orleans a paradise of immaculate chivalry, is qute a small portion of the practice of my profession as a spy. This may not seem honorable or desirable. As to the honor, let the country that benefits by the investigations and warnings of the spy be judged; and the danger, often incurred, is more serious and personal than that of the battle-field, which may, perhaps, detract from its desirability.

It was a dark night. Not a star on the glimmer. I had collected my quantum of intelligence and was on the move for the northern line. I was approaching the banks of a stream whose waters I had to cross, and had then some miles to traverse before I could reach the pickets of our gallant troops. A feeling of uneasiness began to creep over me; I was on the outskirts of a wood fringing the dark waters at my feet, whose presence could scarcely be detected but for their sullen murmurs as they rushed through the gloom. The wind sighed in gentle accordance. I walked forty or fifty yards along the bank. I then crept on all fours along the ground and groped with my hands;—I paused—I groped again—my breath thickened, perspiration oozed from me at every pore, and I was prostrated with horror! I had missed my landmark and knew not where I was. Below or above, beneath the shelter of the bank, lay the skiff I had hidden, ten days before, when I commenced my operations among the followers of Jeff. Davis.

As I stood grasping for breath, with all the unmistakable proofs of my calling about me, the sudden cry of a bird or plunging of a fish would act like magnetism on my frame, not wont to shudder at a shadow. No matter how pressing the danger may be, if a man sees an opening for escape he breathes with freedom. But let him be surrounded by darkness, impenetrable at two yards distance, within rifle's length of concealed foes, for what knowledge he has to the contrary; knowing, too, with painful accuracy, the detection of his presence would reward him with a sudden and violent death, and if he breathes no faster and feels his limbs as free and his spirits as light as when taking a favorite promenade, he is more fitted for a hero than I am.

In the agony of that moment—in the sudden and utter helplessness I felt to discover my true bearings—I was about to let myself gently into the stream and breast its current, for life and death. There was no alternative. The northern pickets must be reached in safety before the morning broke, or I should soon swing between heaven and earth from some limb of the black forest in which I stood.

At that moment the low, sullen bay of a bloodhound struck my ear. The sound was reviving; the fearful stillness broken. The uncertain dread fled before the certain danger. I was standing to my middle in the shallow bed of the river, just beneath the jutting banks. After the pause of a few seconds I began to creep, mechanically and stealthily, down the stream, followed, as I knew from the rustling of the grass and frequent breaking of twigs, by the insatiable brute; although by certain uneasy growls, I felt assured he was at fault. Something struck against my breast. I could not prevent a slight cry from escaping me as on stretching out my hands I grasped the gunwale of a boat moored beneath the bank. Between suprise and joy I felt half choked. In an instant I had scrambled on board and began searching for the painter in the bow, in order to cast her from her fastenings.

Suddenly a bright ray of moonlight—the first gleam of hope in that black night!—fell directly on the spot revealing the silvery stream, my own skiff, (hidden there ten days before,) lightning the deep shadows of the verging wood, and on the log half-buried in the bank, and from which I had that moment cast the line that had bound me to it, the supple form of the crouching bloodhound, his red eyes gleaming in the moonlight, jaws distended and poising for the spring. With one dart the light skiff was yards out in the stream, and the savage after it. With an oar I aimed a blow at his head, which, however, he eluded with ease. In the effort thus made the boat careened over towards my antagonist, who made a desperate effort to get his forepaws over the side, at the same time seizing hold of the gunwale with his teeth.

Now or never was the time to get rid of the accursed brute. I drew my revolver, and placed the muzzle between his eyes, but hesitated to fire, for that one report might bring on me a volley from the shore. Meantime the strength of the dog careened the frail craft so much that the water rushed over the side, threatening to swamp her. I changed my tactics, threw my revolver into the bottom of the skiff, and grasped my "bowie," keen as a Malay creese, and glittering, as I released it from the sheath, like a moonbeam on the stream. In an instant I had severed the throat of the hound, cutting through brawn and muscle to the nape of the neck. The tenacious wretch gave a wild, convulsive leap out of the water, then sunk and was gone.

Five minutes' pulling landed me on the other side of the river, and in an hour after, without further accident, I was among friends, encompassed by the northern lines. That night I related at head-quarters the intelligence I had gathered, and in a few days shall again be gleaning knowledge in the southern camp.

At a colored ball the following notice was posted on the door-posts: "Tickets 50 cts. No gentleman admitted unless he comes himself."

Those tickets were evidently not transferable.

TESTIMONIAL.

To Whom it May Concern:

I AM now over 60 years of age. Three years since I became blind from Cataract in both eyes. Soon after I became blind an attempt to restore my sight by an operation was made in this city, which was unsuccessful. Hearing of the reputation of Dr. Folsom, as a skillful oculist, I was induced to consult him, though with very little hopes of relief. The doctor proposed an operation, to which I consented, which resulted in almost Perfect Restoration of Sight to one eye. He afterwards performed an operation on the other eye with success. I am now enjoying the inestimable blessing of good vision, and a much better general state of health than before. THOS. VAUGHN.

Occupation of Fairfax.

The army under Gen. McDowell, composed of 53,000 troops, successfully advanced from Arlington Heights on Wednesday, and before night occupied Fairfax Court House, extending its lines three miles towards Manassas Junction. The obstructions on the route were less than was expected, there being no masked batteries, and the number of trees reported to have been cut down for the purpose of impeding the progress of the army, delayed it very little. The rebel troops consisted mostly of South Carolinians. They made no resistance, firing a few wild shots which wounded four of our men, and then retreated, leaving their army stores and camp equipage.

The distance from Fairfax Court House to Manassas Junction is about eighteen miles.

There is a rumor of a battle to-day at Centerville, nine miles from Fairfax. This may be so, as it is the policy of the enemy to delay the general battle at Manassas Junction until the arrival of Johnston and his army from Winchester, if he should escape Gen. Patterson.

The immense battery of thirty pounders which it appears McDowell has with him, will do terrible execution upon the columns of the enemy, when a combat takes place.

The news from the seat of war will be looked for with intense interest for the next ten days.

MISSOURI.—There must be a little more blood-letting in central Missouri, before the rebels will be quiet. It is reported that the telegraph lines west and south of Syracuse, which is twenty-five miles south of Boonville, are torn down so generally that the Pacific railroad company has abandoned all hope of repairing them for the present. A majority of the people west of Syracuse, on both sides of the Missouri River, are secessionists, and say they will never willingly submit to Lincoln's government, nor will they allow telegraphs or railroads to remain intact, for the use of Lincoln's army. Many of them say that the oath they are required to take by the U. S. troops, is a mere form of words, and not at all binding. It is thought there will not be a quorum at the meeting of the state convention in Jefferson City, next Monday.

☞ Kentucky neutrality will not last much longer. Its snaky qualities are more and more apparent every day. There will be a rupture soon between the unionists and disunionists. It will probably grow out of the shipment of men and provisions to the Southern army on the Nashville railroad, which the Collector at Louisville is trying to prevent.

☞ There are statements in the papers that Gen. Wool is deprived of all participation in the active duties of the war, because, at the beginning of it he took measures to prevent certain New York speculators from fleecing the government. They have had sufficient influence to keep him at Troy, doing nothing. It is also said that the matter will be investigated by a Congressional committee. The public has been surprised at the position which has been assigned to so experienced a soldier as Gen. Wool, but have generally supposed there was good reason for it, and perhaps there is. Time will determine.

☞ Recent dispatches from the seat of war in western Virginia inform us that the rebels have not been driven out of the Kanawha valley. The troops for this service had not left the Ohio river on Monday, and were waiting for means of transportation. Since the defeat of the main body of the rebels by McClellan, those in south-western Virginia may be expected soon to take "French leave," without waiting for notice to go.

SOUTHERN CHIVALRY.—The following is a specimen of the boasted chivalry of the south. We can hardly decide which is the greatest barbarism, the wretch who is the principal actor in the tragedy, or the scoundrel who tells the story:

"An old trapper, of high respectability, who has resided in Hampton for many years, named Benjamin Phillips, was coming up the road near Hampton in the forenoon, armed with a double-barreled gun. Seeing a buggy some distance ahead of him he slipped into the woods and awaited its approach. He soon discovered two officers sitting in the buggy, and saw from their appearance that they were in no condition to do him much harm. They hailed him as they passed, asking him who he was. He replied by telling them to pass on. As soon as they did so, the old man let fly both barrels of his gun in rapid succession into the back of the buggy. A shriek was heard, and one of the officers leaped out and took to the woods. The other fell forward, and the buggy passed on. Mr. Phillips is of the impression that the shriek was the death-yell of the individual who remained in the buggy. Mr. Phillips had previously killed, at different times, nine of the federal scouts."—Richmond (Va.) Whig.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Special to Tribune.—The Secretary of War to day accepted fifteen additional regiments from Pennsylvania.

The Third Wisconsin Regiment at Buffalo.

The third regiment of this state arrived at Buffalo last Sunday afternoon, and was hospitably entertained as the depot, by the citizens of that city, and the military. The Express thus speaks of the regiment:

While the Wisconsin boys are at the tables satisfying their appetites and quenching their thirst, we can say a word concerning them and the regiment they compose. We feel rather enthusiastic about them, after having studied their looks and held conversation with many of them. A nobler body of men, in every respect, both moral and physical, never went forth to battle in the world's history. It made one's bosom swell with pride of country, and the tear of exultation start to the eye, to look at their ranks and think of the impregnability of the nation defended by such sons as these. It was not the stalwart strength of their forms which struck the eye so much as the honest manhood and the earnest patriotism written in their faces. In every countenance there was the look of the true Union volunteer, whose musket was shouldered, not for the wages of the soldier, but to do the duty of the citizen in the hour of national danger.

Said one of the men with whom we conversed, speaking of his companions in general, "they're not only stout and brave fellows, with hardy limbs and courageous hearts, but they are good boys. They don't drink, nor they ain't rough nor wild in their habits. The greater part of them are temperance men, and they are always well behaved. I don't believe that when we left our camp there was a man who had an enemy in Fond du Lac."

Another told us that the regiment was almost entirely composed of men who were thoroughly used to the rifle; who had lived in the woods, and led hardy lives. Said he "there are dozens of them who can hit a cent, off hand, as far as they can see it, and we can all handle the shooting irons pretty well." And this same speaker, a stalwart backwoodsman of fifty or thereabouts, brown and rugged in features, told us that he had two sons in the regiment. Said he, "I told our colonel to put my oldest boy wherever he wanted a fellow to trust in particularly dangerous places, and when he thought the boy wouldn't answer, to send for the old man."

We might fill a column with reports like these, showing the material of which this splendid regiment is made up, and the feeling by which it is inspired. But it will speak for itself, we have not a doubt, better than we can speak for it; and if our citizens will remember hereafter to note the doings of the third Wisconsin regiment, in the war to which it is going, we will warrant their learning that the country has none nobler in the field.

The regiment is under orders to join the command of Gen. Patterson, who is now at Martinsburg, in the presence of the enemy, under Gen. Johnston; so that there is every probability of its being speedily engaged in the real work of war. This prospect is a very glad one to the men, and they are eager to reach the field.

At Harrisburgh the regiment expect to be armed and uniformed. At present it is without arms of any description, and its uniform consists of a fatigue dress, of drab jean farmers' frocks, pants of the same, or blue overhalls, with grey wide-awake hats, turned up on one side. They have their knapsacks, canteens, &c., and are well supplied with camp equipage. The officers have their horses with them.

Including officers, the regiment is 1,000 strong. It is accompanied by a fine brass band, and an admirable drum corps—altogether 46 musicians. Eleven ladies, wives and daughters of the officers, are going forward with the regiment, intending to proceed as far as possible. Another companion of the regiment is Hon. Mr Hazletine, senator form Columbia county, Wis., who goes as the representative of the governor of the state to look after its welfare and interests, and promote to the utmost the comfort of the men.

THE FOURTH WISCONSIN REGIMENT.—The 4th Wisconsin regiment, another of those splendid turn-outs from that generous and loyal state, left Racine where they had been for some time encamped, on the Chicago and Milwaukee Railroad, yesterday morning, and arrived here, safe and without accident, at about six last evening. There was an immense jam of people at the depot to greet them, and, as they came in, loud cheers and hearty words of welcome were given by our citizens. The 4th is as fine a body of men as has yet started for the wars from Wisconsin. This is praise sufficient, as it is conceded on all sides that no better men, or better uniformed and equipped soldiers, can be produced than those composing the three regiments already in the scene of action from the state of Wisconsin.

The march of the 4th through the city last evening was an ovation that its members may justly feel proud of. Clark street was absolutely lined, on both sides, with ladies and gentlemen, as far as the eye could reach in each direction. The soldierly appearance of the 4th was the subject of general remark. The men marched in good order, pausing at the Sherman House—where the staff and commissioned officers stopped and partook of a collation – the remainder keeping on up Clark street to the depot of the Michigan Southern road, where they embarked for Harrisburg, en route for Virginia, it is supposed. They filled fifteen coaches.—Chicago Times, 16th.

HENRY A. WISE STILL LIVING.—We are at last able to give, says the Wheeling Intelligencer, of the 15th, what is unquestionably the truth in regard to the killing or wounding of the old arch traitor, Henry A. Wise. He is still in the land of the living. Mr. John Woods, son of A. P. Woods of this city, arrived here from Ravenswood on Saturday morning, by steamer. He left Charlottesville, where he was a student at the university, about three weeks ago. He reached Charleston after a great deal of trouble, and left that place on the 4th of July, arriving at Ripley on the 5th. Old Henry A., and his son, O. Jennings Wise were both at Ripley.

On the 8th, a report reached Ripley that a thousand federal troops were marching upon that place from the Ohio river. The Wises, with their seven hundred followers, retreated back upon Charlestown. The report of the killing of Wise and his body guard, reached us on Saturday evening, the 7th, so that it will be seen that he could not have been very badly injured, as he was knocking around Ripley pretty spry for an old man. From other circumstances, we are induced to believe that the whole story about the attack upon Wise's party, is a sheer fabrication. It is scarcely possible that he could have been at Sisssonville at all.

TOO THICK WITH FOLKS.—"Where is your house?" asked a traveler in the depth of one of the "old solemn wildernesses" of the Great West. "House?—I ain't got no house." "Well, where do you live?" "I live in the woods—sleep on the Great Government Purchase, eat raw bear and wild turkey, and drink out of the Mississippi!" And he added: "It is getting too thick with folks about here. You're the second man I have seen within the last month; and I hear there is a whole family come in about fifty miles down the river. I'm going to put out into the woods again."

Bogus coin is being circulated in large quantities in Buffalo.

BY TELEGRAPH.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE, Office in Union Passenger Depot.

Last Night's Report.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

SENATE.—Mr. Latham introduced a bill to secure a speedy passage of troops and munitions of war to the Pacific coast. Referred to select committee on Pacific railroad.

Mr. Pearce presented a memorial from the police commissioners of Baltimore now confined at Fort McHenry. The memorialists solemnly declare that they have always discharged their duties faithfully and impartially, and in obedience to the laws and constitution, and all evidence to the contrary is false, and further declares that the grounds set up by Gen. Banks for their arrest has no foundation, in fact that Marshal Kane is a gentleman of integrity and worth, and that no body of men are less liable to be charged of unlawful combinations than the police force of Baltimore. The memorialists submit that the proclamation by which they were arrested has no warrant in law, and they ask the interposition of congress.

Mr. Pearce said memorialists were known to him, and he believed them to be men of highest integrity, and faithful to the constitution. He did not believe that any proof could be furnished against them. Memorial was referred to judiciary committee.

Mr. Grimes from committee on naval affairs, introduced a bill to provide temporary increase of the navy.

Mr. Foote said there was a pressing necessity for the passage of the bill. The bill authorized the secretary of the navy to purchase or have such vessels as might be necessary during the war to suppress rebellion and render an effectual blockade. It appropriates $3,000,000. Bill passed.

The house resolution regarding adjournment on Friday, was taken up and laid on the table till time for consideration.

The bill to provide for the better organization of military establishments was taken up.

Mr. Wilson offered an amendment to the whole bill, comprising nearly all amendments heretofore offered, and further providing a retiring list for the army.

Mr. Grimes offered an amendment providing a retiring list for the navy.

Mr. Hale spoke against any increase of salaries and although he was willing to have a retired list, this was no time to establish it.

Mr. Wilson, at some length, advocated the passage of the bill as amended.

Mr. Grimes' amendment was adopted.

Mr. Grimes offered an amendment to extend the retiring list to the marine corps of the navy. Adopted.

Mr. Rice offered an amendment that the Brevet Lieutenant General be retired and there be no reduction of salary or sustenance. Agreed to; yeas 28, nays 11.

Mr. Sherman moved to give the retired list pay and no other allowance.

Mr. Sherman's amendment was adopted.

Mr. Hale moved to amend so that officers having the brevet rank would not receive any increase of pay. Agreed to.

Mr. Baker moved that Lieutenant General Scott be excepted.

Mr. Nesmith saw no reason for excepting.

Mr. Saulsbury said he should vote for it because he was glad that the Great Captain had not resigned and taken part with the seceded states. Agreed to; yeas 30, nays 6.

Mr. Foster moved to strike out the provision relative to the superintendent of the military academy so as to leave it as it is. Agreed to.

Mr. Hale moved to strike out all that portion relating to the retiring list of the army and navy. After a long discussion, the amendment was disagreed to; yeas 11, nays 27.

HOUSE.—Most of to-day has been consumed in discussing resolutions and appointing a committee to examine and inquire into all contracts made or to be made by the war department.

Mr. Kellogg, of Illinois, offered his objections to the resolutions, on the ground that there were no specific charges.

Mr. Van Wyck said there were specific charges of fraud by contractors. He understood without doubt, that within two short months, there has been a system of plunder, which, for audacity and wickedness, has never been surpassed. In this connection, he referred to the excess of pay for beef, hats, &c. He charged no department with complicity, but he would say there were men that had taken advantage of the necessity of the times, and plundered the country. Take the case of the steamboat Catiline—not worth more than $10,000. She was chartered for $10,000 per month, and $50,000 was to be paid for her in case she was lost. He would tell the house and the country, that the war department desired an examination into this affair.

Mr. Kellogg moved to lay the resolution on the table. Motion was disagreed to by 48 against 77. The resolution was then adopted by yeas 81, nays 41.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the bill to provide for increased revenue from imports, to pay the interest on the public debt, and for other purposes.

Mr. Morrill, of Vt, would vote for the proposed tariff bill, although it did not meet with his cordial support.

Mr. Pendleton offered an amendment to reduce the duty on iron.

Mr. Ward effectually endeavored to amend so that the bill take effect on the first of September instead of immediately; without action the committee rose.

Mr. Vallandigham gave notice of bills to regulate and enforce the writ of habeas corpus.

Special despatch to the Chicago Times.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., July 17.

Our forces under Gen. Patterson have had a splendid skirmish with Johnston and his rebel followers, putting them to flight in the most headlong manner.

Gen. Patterson, ascertaining that the rebel general, Johnston, was at Bunker Hill with a considerable force, started forward on Sunday night with a view to giving him battle, and dislodging him from his position.

By some unaccountable means information was conveyed to the enemy of this advance, whereupon Johnston at once commenced breaking camp, intending to fall back on Winchester.

Gen. Patterson's advance was, however, too rapid for him, and the result was a partial surprise.

The federal advance was composed of 3 Pennsylvania regiments, a company of regular cavalry, and the celebrated Rhode Island battery of light artillery under Col. Tompkins.

A body of rebel cavalry, from six to eight hundred strong, under Col. Stewart, attempted a flank movement on the twenty-third Pennsylvania regiment, just as they were approaching Bunker Hill, not discovering the strength with which they were supported.

They came galloping down a cross road at a furious pace, evidently sure of a signal victory over the single regiment of infantry they had discovered.

The Pennsylvania troops stood firm, awaiting the charge with fixed bayonets, determined to sell themselves dearly.

Just as the rebels were upon the point of wheeling into the main road, Col. Tompkins brought his artillery to bear upon them with wonderful effect.

They were much surprised at this warm and unlooked for reception, and being thrown entirely off their guard, turned and fled in the utmost disorder.

Col. Thomas' detachment of regular cavalry came up at this moment, and at once gave chase. One captain and two or three privates were captured. Three of their men were killed, and about a dozen wounded.

Our forces escaped without the loss of a man.

The main body of Gen. Patterson's column were then brought up with dispatch, and separated into two divisions, with orders to proceed with all possible haste to Winchester, one column to take the route by Martinsburg and Charleston to Berryville, so as to cut off any retreat from Winchester to the Blue Ridge mountains, and the other to move down more to the west, and to attack the town from the front.

It is generally believed that the two columns would come upon the town to-day, when a bloody battle will not be unlikely to ensue.

GRAFTON, Va., July 16.

The rebels driven by Gen. Morris from Laurel Hill, still numbering three thousand escaped Gen. Hill near West Union, passing within a mile and a half of his army. He returned to Oakland, and started again to-day in pursuit.

Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.

WASHINGTON, July 16.

The formal movement across the Potomac was inaugurated on gigantic scale today. At an early hour the troops were mustered in every camp, and their arms and accoutrements put in the finest order. The bands played their most inspiriting airs, and thousands of citizens and strangers poured forth to witness the imposing spectacle. About one o'clock General Scott and staff crossed the river, preceding most of the regiments. The sight was most impressive and grand. The aged General seemed to have renewed his youth. His snowy locks were the only evidence of his venerable age. His eyes sparkled with the fire which a confidence alike in the justice and triumph of his cause had enkindled, and his almost giant stature rendered him conspicuous among the officers around him. The stranger could not mistake the Chief.

The demonstration considered only as a pageant was most successful, and the public are nearly as enthusiastic as over the news or even the sight of some hotly contested battle. All seem to feel that the Rubicon has now been passed and the war actually begun. There are at present fifty-five regiments between the Potomac and Fairfax Court House. The Ohio regiments are with the most advanced columns.

Special despatch to the Chicago Times.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 17.

The main advance of the Federal troops last night was made in three divisions.

The advance was led by General Dixon Miles.

A short engagement was had at Fairfax Court House this forenoon, in which our advance put to route the rebel forces that had been stationed at that point.

They retreated towards Centreville.

Seventeen of their number were killed.

Fairfax Court-House will be occupied to-night by ten thousand Federal troops.

Large quantities of flour and other provisions were captured, together with several pieces of ordinance and some ammunition.

The march from Alexandria was an excessively tedious one, the road being blocked up with all manner of obstructions.—The men, however, displayed the utmost willingness to labor in the removal of the obstructions that had been placed in the way. Details for sapper-and-miner duties were willingly submitted to, and the work cheerfully performed.

When the line reached Fairfax Court-House it was found that the men were too much fatigued to pursue the flying foe.

The enemy are concentrating at Centerville, nine miles further west on the turnpike.

Our troops will engage them at that place to-morrow.

The blow has now been struck, and the design is to push immediately forward, looking for an early union with Gen. Patterson's column from the valley of the Shenandoah, and Gen. McClellan's from west of the Alleghany Mountains, when the united force, invincible against any body the rebels can muster, will march on Richmond, and sweep the last vestige of secessionism from Virginia.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

A party of ladies and gentlemen from this city have just returned from Fairfax Court-House, whither they went, in the rear of the Grand Army, this morning.

They report that the rebels abandoned the place with the utmost precipitancy upon the approach of the Federal forces, leaving behind them large supplies of flour and beef, and a number of guns. These fell a prey to our victorious army.

Washington is wild with excitement over the result of the expedition.

Gen. Tyler, who led the column from Arlington Heights, occupies Falls Church, a settlement just without the District of Columbia, and about six miles west of Arlington, and also Vienna, on the Alexandria and Leesburg Railroad, four miles north of Fairfax Court-House.

His movements were admirably arranged, and most successfully carried out.

The enemy fled before him without giving his men a chance to disply their abilities in the sharp-shooting line.

The advance from Alexandria and Arlington last night consisted of fifty-three thousand infantry, besides cavalry and light artillery, making in all about fifty-five thousand.

A reserve force of forty thousand is held on the Potomoc and in this city. This force can be pushed forward at any moment, if reinforcements shall become necessary.

The Orange and Alexandria Railroad is in perfect repair so far as Berks Station, five miles east of Fairfax Station, and immense supply trains have been running throughout the day to-day.

Any reinforcements that may be required will be sent out by rail, thus avoiding a tedious march.

The rebels have a force of not less than eighty thousand between here and Richmond, all of whom can be concentrated at Manassas Station if necessary.

A battle is looked for at Manassas.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Gen. Townsend, at the war department, states that Gen. McDowell is in full possession of Fairfax Court House, which he took this afternoon without loss except four wounded. The rebels fled precipitately. They were chiefly South Carolinias. Our army took large quantities of army stores, provisions and camp equipage.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Congress has made no real headway today. No adjournment this week is probable.

The house considered the tariff modification as recommended by the committee on ways and means, but they did nothing further than adopt an amendment offered by Mr. Arnold, of Illinois, fixing the duty on molasses at three cents instead of five.

Quite a breeze was raised in the house by Mr. Holman's resolution, giving the army contract investigating committee full powers to push their researches into all contracts now made or to be made in any department connected with the war. This was fought persistently by the Pennsylvania members, and by Kellogg, of Ill., who declared he would vote for no investigation which assumed at the start that there was corruption in the war department.

Mr. Van Wyck, chairman of the committee, hoped the house would not shrink from investigating matters which had already developed a degree of wickedness and corruption unparalleled.

The house voted, two to one, to grant the fullest power to the committee. A great many members, however, dodged.

The committee is a strong one, and will act fairly but thoroughly, taking the recess of congress for the work, and extending its researches everywhere where suspicion exists.

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.

A letter from Martinsburg, dated the 14th, says that Gen. Patterson was marching on Winchester by two different routes.

BUNKER HILL, Va., July 15—P. M.

Gen. Patterson's army moved this morning, 21,000 strong, for Winchester, encamping on Bunker Hill on to-night, after a slight skirmish with rebel cavalry.

The march will be resumed on Tuesday morning, and they will encamp at Winchester on the same night.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Herald's dispatch says at 1 o'clock, A. M., the enemy's works in the neighborhood of Fairfax, as far as Centerville, were attacked. Meeting with no resistance, the barricades were easily surmounted, and the roads cleared of trees which had been felled delaying the advance but a few minutes. At a steep hill there were stationed 200 rebel cavalry, who, without waiting to ascertain the strength of the advancing force, fled upon the first appearance of our skirmishers. They found a fortification about half a mile from the court house, consisting of a simple entrenchment extending about 400 yards each side of the road. It was pierced for eight guns. This had been occupied for about three weeks, by the 2d and 3d South Carolina regiments, under Gen. Bonham. On approaching this point our skirmishers had a brush with those of the rebels, in which one man received a flesh wound, and a rebel officer was captured. The advance of Burnsides' brigade reached the fortification in time to make a South Carolina officer prisoner.

The command then proceeded to Fairfax. The rebel flag was still flying at the court house when the advance of the division, with the band of the 1st Rhode Island regiment playing national airs, entered the village. It was taken down by some of the 2d Rhode Island resgiment, and handed to Gov. Sprague, and transmitted by him to Gen. McDowell as a regimental trophy.

GERMANTOWN, July 17—1 P. M.

The 1st Division of the Grand Aarmy under Gen. Tyler commenced moving at half past 5 this A. M. About a mile from the village a heavy obstruction was discovered in the road. In less than twenty minutes the whole of the barracade was removed.

The rebels abandoned their position as soon as Gen. Schenck's column commenced moving.

Hunt's Hill, some 2½ miles west of Vienna, was reached the enemy evidently still retreating.

A thick piece of timber was entered, in an opening of which was taugible evidences of the haste with which the rebels had retreated, for here were found a large number of blankets, pistols, guns, &c.

The column was about pushing on when the scouts reported a battery of several pieces, less than half a mile ahead.

Meantime other scouts came in and reported that the rebels had precipitatedly abandoned the battery, and were retreating in haste. The enemy disappeared and the entrenchments were quietly entered and taken possession of by the skirmishers. The position was a very strong one and could have easily been defended. The division will move on this p. m., to the vicinity of Centerville, where the enemy is said to be in strong forces.

2:30 P. M.—Gen. McDowell and staff has just arrived. All four divisions will move on towards the Junction to-morrow.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

The President has appointed John Armstrong postmaster.

FORT MONROE, July 17.

Steamers from Norfolk were seen landing troops troops this morning at Sewall's Point, where it is apparent that formidable preparations are being made to annoy our shipping and perhaps the fortress itself.

There are undoubtedly masked batteries at Willoughby Point, and opposite Rip Raps. These preparations will, however, be ineffectual in view of the terrible engines of destruction to be brought to bear against the rebels opposite the fortress in case they attempt to disturb us. Sewall's Point has no strategetic importance. Norfolk and Portsmouth are on the road to Richmond, but should the confederates annoy Old Point, they will be at once routed.

Two negroes, escaped from Big Point last night, bring report that the rebels are in large force opposite Newport News.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

A bill was introduced that all prepaid letters to the soldiers, addressed to them at the point where they are stationed, may, whenever possible, be sent to any other point without further charge. The bill passed.

Mr. Pendleton from the Judiciary Committee reported a bill for the relief of the Ohio volunteers. It provides for paying them at the time they arrive at the place of rendezvous, instead of from the time when they were sworn in, which was twelve days afterwards.

An amendment was also made directing the war department to pay the militia of other States similarly situated. The bill was then passed.

SENATE.—Secretrry Forney called the senate to order and stated that he had a note from the Vice President saying that he should be absent for the rest of the session.

A bill to provide for an assistant secretary of the navy was taken up, and after a short debate, was passed.

Mr. Hale moved to take up the bill for the better organization of the marine, which was agreed to. The amendments of the naval committee were adopted, and the bill passed.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

HOUSE.—Mr. Washburne, from the committee on commerce, reported a bill to remit fines and penalties in certain cases, incurred by reason of the closing of the southern ports, and consequently no collectors are there to give the proper papers to vessels leaving these ports. Bill passed.

Mr. Sheffield reported bills supplementary to acts to protect commerce and punish piracy—referred.

On motion of Mr. Elliot, a resolution was passed instructing the committee on commerce to inquire into the expediency of closing, by an act of congress, certain ports in the rebellious states, with leave to report by bill or otherwise.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Special to Herald.—Senator Simmons of Rhode Island, has prepared an entirely new tariff bill, which he intends to give as a substitute for the Hale bill, raising duties 10 per cent on all articles, when the duty will not exceed 50 per cent.

SYRACUSE, Mo., July 18.

The rumor current yesterday that a battle had taken place near Georgetown, between the Home Guards and rebels under Magoffin, proved to have been a hoax, started by rebels who gave out that Syracuse and Florence, a town 10 miles south of this place, were to be burned last night. Our citizens kept watch all night, but there was no disturbance.

Large numbers of men are reported as flying to Magoffin's aid.

LOUISVILLE, July 17.

Special despatch from Pensacola, dated 14th, says:—

Capt. Clauter, Montgomery Mounted Rifles, fired on the launch of a federal steamer near East Pass this a. m., killing several men, including the commanding officer.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

Special to the Post.—A courier from McDowell's headquarters reports that the army marched early this a. m., for Centerville. Gen. McDowell said last night that he believed that the rebels would fight there.

It is reported that the rebels under Johnston endeavored to effect a junction with Beauregard. Scouts report 30,000 to 40,000 rebels at Centerville and Manassas.

Special to Commercial.—Rumored that there has been an engagement at Centerville, but unconfirmed. The battery which accompanies McDowell cousists of 8, 32-pounders. The largest field batery in the service.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, July 18.

A PATRIOTIC FAMILY.—A Washington dispatch to the Philadelphia Enquirer says that Brig. Gen. Issac Staat, late of Newport, R. I., had twenty-two children—sixteen of whom were boys, and nine of them are in the military and naval service. Four of them are in the Rhode Island regiment, four in the Massachusetts, and one in the 18th New York. The father was in the Mexican war, and died in 1851, leaving one hundred and twenty descendants.

UNION IN GEORGIA.—The Louisville Democrat says: We have received several letters from Georgia, about our daily and weekly papers. They all express an anxious wish for the reconstruction of the Union. We would gladly publish extracts from these letters, were it not that by so doing we might prejudice our friends; but we feel assured of this, that let the question once be fairly put, and the Empire State of the south will vote for a reconstruction.

Mr. Bright, M. P., followed Mr. Cobden in a speech at Rockdale, Eng., a few days ago, and took occasion to condemn the policy of the British government in giving encouragement to the late war against Russia. But he said:

"There is one thing—we did not breed any great military hero in the war, and we cannot be too thankful for that. (Laughter.) There is nothing in any country, depend upon it, so noxious as a great military hero."

HOW TO PURIFY RANCID LARD.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman furnishes the following receipe: "We had some 40 pounds rancid lard, which was valueless as it was. Knowing that the antiseptic quality of the chloride of soda, I procured three ounces, which was poured into a pailful of soft water, and when hot the lard added. After boiling it thoroughly together for an hour or two, it was set aside to cool. The lard was taken off when nearly cold, and was subsequently boiled up. The color was restored to an alabaster white, and the lard was as sweet as a rose."

HAPPY ISLANDERS.—By a late census it appears there are some 900 inhabitants, permanent settlers, on the islands on the southern shore of Lake Erie, mostly on Putin Bay, Kelly's North and Middle Bass Islands. There is not a doctor, a lawyer, nor a preacher among them; nor is there a sick person. A more happy, healthy, prosperous community is not to be found on the face of the earth.—Buffalo Express.

Occupation of Fairfax.

The army under Gen. McDowell, composed of 53,000 troops, successfully advanced from Arlington Heights on Wednesday, and before night occupied Fairfax Court House, extending its lines three miles towards Manassas Junction. The obstructions on the route were less than was expected, there being no masked batteries, and the number of trees reported to have been cut down for the purpose of impeding the progress of the army, delayed it very little. The rebel troops consisted mostly of Sorth Carolinians. They made no resistance, firing a few wild shots which wounded four of our men, and then retreated, leaving their army stores and camp equipage.

The distance from Fairfax Court House to Manassas Junction is about eighteen miles.

There is a rumor of a battle to-day at Centerville, nine miles from Fairfax. This may be so, as it is the policy of the enemy to delay the general battle at Manassas Junction until the arrival of Johnston and his army from Winchester, if he should escape Gen. Patterson.

The immense battery of thirty pounders which it appears McDowell has with him, will do terrible execution upon the columns of the enemy, when a combat takes place.

The news from the seat of war will be looked for with intense interest for the next ten days.

MISSOURI.—There must be a little more blood-letting in central Missouri, before the rebels will be quiet. It is reported that the telegraph lines west and south of Syracuse, which is twenty-five miles south of Boonville, are torn down so generally that the Pacific railroad company has abandoned all hope of repairing them for the present. A majority of the people west of Syracuse, on both sides of the Missouri River, are secessionists, and say they will never willingly submit to Lincoln's government, nor will they allow telegraphs or railroads to remain intact, for the use of Lincoln's army. Many of them say that the oath they are required to take by the U. S. troops, is a mere form of words, and not at all binding. It is thought there will not be a quorum at the meeting of the state convention in Jefferson City, next Monday.

☞ Kentucky neutrality will not last much longer. Its snaky qualities are more and more apparent every day. There will be a rupture soon between the unionists and disunionists. It will probably grow out of the shipment of men and provisions to the Southern army on the Nashville railroad, which the Collector at Louisville is trying to prevent.

☞ There are statements in the papers that Gen. Wool is deprived of all participation in the active duties of the war, because, at the beginning of it he took measures to prevent certain New York speculators from fleecing the government. They have had sufficient influence to keep him at Troy, doing nothing. It is also said that the matter will be investigated by a Congressional committee. The public has been surprised at the position which has been assigned to so experienced a soldier as Gen. Wool, but have generally supposed there was good reason for it, and perhaps there is. Time will determine.

☞ Recent dispatches from the seat of war in western Virginia inform us that the rebels have not been driven out of the Kanawha valley. The troops for this service had not left the Ohio river on Monday, and were waiting for means of transportation. Since the defeat of the main body of the rebels by McClellan, those in south-western Virginia may be expected soon to take "French leave," without waiting for notice to go.

SOUTHERN CHIVALRY.—The following is a specimen of the boasted chivalry of the south. We can hardly decide which is the greatest barbarism, the wretch who is the principal actor in the tragedy, or the scoundrel who tells the story:

"An old trapper, of high respectability, who has resided in Hampton for many years, named Benjamin Phillips, was coming up the road near Hampton in the forenoon, armed with a double-barreled gun. Seeing a buggy some distance ahead of him he slipped into the woods and awaited its approach. He soon discovered two officers sitting in the buggy, and saw from their appearance that they were in no condition to do him much harm. They hailed him as they passed, asking him who he was. He replied by telling them to pass on. As soon as they did so, the old man let fly both barrels of his gun in rapid succession into the back of the buggy. A shriek was heard, and one of the officers leaped out and took to the woods. The other fell forward, and the buggy passed on. Mr. Phillips is of the impression that the shriek was the death-yell of the individual who remained in the buggy. Mr. Phillips had previously killed, at different times, nine of the federal scouts."—Richmond (Va.) Whig.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Special to Tribune.—The Secretary of War to-day accepted fifteen additional regiments from Pennsylvania.

The Third Wisconsin Regiment at Buffalo.

The third regiment of this state arrived at Buffalo last Sunday afternoon, and was hospitably entertained as the depot, by the citizens of that city, and the military. The Express thus speaks of the regiment:

While the Wisconsin boys are at the tables satisfying their appetites and quenching their thirst, we can say a word concerning them and the regiment they compose. We feel rather enthusiastic about them, after having studied their looks and held conversation with many of them. A nobler body of men, in every respect, both moral and physical, never went forth to battle in the world's history. It made one's bosom swell with pride of country, and the tear of exultation start to the eye, to look at their ranks and think of the impregnability of the nation defended by such sons as these. It was not the stalwart strength of their forms which struck the eye so much as the honest manhood and the earnest patriotism written in their faces. In every countenance there was the look of the true Union volunteer, whose musket was shouldered, not for the wages of the soldier, but to do the duty of the citizen in the hour of national danger.

Said one of the men with whom we conversed, speaking of his companions in general, "they're not only stout and brave fellows, with hardy limbs and courageous hearts, but they are good boys. They don't drink, nor they ain't rough nor wild in their habits. The greater part of them are temperance men, and they are always well behaved. I don't believe that when we left our camp there was a man who had an enemy in Fond du Lac."

Another told us that the regiment was almost entirely composed of men who were thoroughly used to the rifle; who had lived in the woods, and led hardy lives. Said he "there are dozens of them who can hit a cent, off hand, as far as they can see it, and we can all handle the shooting irons pretty well." And this same speaker, a stalwart backwoodsman of fifty or thereabouts, brown and rugged in features, told us that he had two sons in the regiment. Said he, "I told our colonel to put my oldest boy wherever he wanted a fellow to trust in particularly dangerous places, and when he thought the boy wouldn't answer, to send for the old man."

We might fill a column with reports like these, showing the material of which this splendid regiment is made up, and the feeling by which it is inspired. But it will speak for itself, we have not a doubt, better than we can speak for it; and if our citizens will remember hereafter to note the doings of the third Wisconsin regiment, in the war to which it is going, we will warrant their learning that the country has none nobler in the field.

The regiment is under orders to join the command of Gen. Patterson, who is now at Martinsburg, in the presence of the enemy, under Gen. Johnston; so that there is every probability of its being speedily engaged in the real work of war. This prospect is a very glad one to the men, and they are eager to reach the field.

At Harrisburgh the regiment expect to be armed and uniformed. At present it is without arms of any description, and its uniform consists of a fatigue dress, of drab jean farmers' frocks, pants of the same, or blue overhalls, with grey wide-awake hats, turned up on one side. They have their knapsacks, canteens, &c., and are well supplied with camp equipage. The officers have their horses with them.

Including officers, the regiment is 1,000 strong. It is accompanied by a fine brass band, and an admirable drum corps—altogether 46 musicians. Eleven ladies, wives and daughters of the officers, are going forward with the regiment, intending to proceed as far as possible. Another companion of the regiment is Hon. Mr Hazletine, senator form Columbia county, Wis., who goes as the representative of the governor of the state to look after its welfare and interests, and promote to the utmost the comfort of the men.

THE FOURTH WISCONSIN REGIMENT.—The 4th Wisconsin regiment, another of those splendid turn-outs from that generous and loyal state, left Racine where they had been for some time encamped, on the Chicago and Milwaukee Railroad, yesterday morning, and arrived here, safe and without accident, at about six last evening. There was an immense jam of people at the depot to greet them, and, as they came in, loud cheers and hearty words of welcome were given by our citizens. The 4th is as fine a body of men as has yet started for the wars from Wisconsin. This is praise sufficient, as it is conceded on all sides that no better men, or better uniformed and equipped soldiers, can be produced than those composing the three regiments already in the scene of action from the state of Wisconsin.

The march of the 4th through the city last evening was an ovation that its members may justly feel proud of. Clark street was absolutely lined, on both sides, with ladies and gentlemen, as far as the eye could reach in each direction. The soldierly appearance of the 4th was the subject of general remark. The men marched in good order, pausing at the Sherman House—where the staff and commissioned officers stopped and partook of a collation—the remainder keeping on up Clark street to the depot of the Michigan Southern road, where they embarked for Harrisburg, en route for Virginia, it is supposed. They filled fifteen coaches.—Chicago Times, 16th.

HENRY A. WISE STILL LIVING.—We are at last able to give, says the Wheeling Intelligencer, of the 15th, what is unquestionably the truth in regard to the killing or wounding of the old arch traitor, Henry A. Wise. He is still in the land of the living. Mr. John Woods, son of A. P. Woods of this city, arrived here from Ravenswood on Saturday morning, by steamer. He left Charlottesville, where he was a student at the university, about three weeks ago. He reached Charleston after a great deal of trouble, and left that place on the 4th of July, arriving at Ripley on the 5th. Old Henry A., and his son, O. Jennings Wise were both at Ripley.

On the 8th, a report reached Ripley that a thousand federal troops were marching upon that place from the Ohio river. The Wises, with their seven hundred followers, retreated back upon Charlestown. The report of the killing of Wise and his body guard, reached us on Saturday evening, the 7th, so that it will be seen that he could not have been very badly injured, as he was knocking around Ripley pretty spry for an old man. From other circumstances, we are induced to believe that the whole story about the attack upon Wise's party, is a sheer fabrication. It is scarcely possible that he could have been at Sissonville at all.

TOO THICK WITH FOLKS.—"Where is your house?" asked a traveler in the depth of one of the "old solemn wildernesses" of the Great West. "House?—I ain't got no house." "Well, where do you live?" "I live in the woods—sleep on the Great Government Purchase, eat raw bear and wild turkey, and drink out of the Mississippi!" And he added: "It is getting too thick with folks about here. You're the second man I have seen within the last month; and I hear there is a whole family come in about fifty miles down the river. I'm going to put out into the woods again."

Bogus coin is being circulated in large quantities in Buffalo.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE, Office in Union Passenger Depot.

Last Night's Report.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

SENATE.—Mr. Latham introduced a bill to secure a speedy passage of troops and munitions of war to the Pacific coast. Referred to select committee on Pacific railroad.

Mr. Pearce presented a memorial from the police commissioners of Baltimore now confined at Fort McHenry. The memorialists solemnly declare that they have always discharged their duties faithfully and impartially, and in obedience to the laws and constitution, and all evidence to the contrary is false, and further declares that the grounds set up by Gen. Banks for their arrest has no foundation, in fact that Marshal Kane is a gentleman of integrity and worth, and that no body of men are less liable to be charged of unlawful combinations than the police force of Baltimore. The memorialists submit that the proclamation by which they were arrested has no warrant in law, and they ask the interposition of congress.

Mr. Pearce said memorialists were known to him, and he believed them to be men of highest integrity, and faithful to the constitution. He did not believe that any proof could be furnished against them. Memorial was referred to judiciary committee.

Mr. Grimes from committee on naval affairs, introduced a bill to provide temporary increase of the navy.

Mr. Foote said there was a pressing necessity for the passage of the bill. The bill authorized the secretary of the navy to purchase or have such vessels as might be necessary during the war to suppress rebellion and render an effectual blockade. It appropriates $3,000,000. Bill passed.

The house resolution regarding adjournment on Friday, was taken up and laid on the table till time for consideration.

The bill to provide for the better organization of military establishments was taken up.

Mr. Wilson offered an amendment to the whole bill, comprising nearly all amendments heretofore offered, and further providing a retiring list for the army.

Mr. Grimes offered an amendment providing a retiring list for the navy.

Mr. Hale spoke against any increase of salaries and although he was willing to have a retired list, this was no time to establish it.

Mr. Wilson, at some length, advocated the passage of the bill as amended.

Mr. Grimes' amendment was adopted.

Mr. Grimes offered an amendment to extend the retiring list to the marine corps of the navy. Adopted.

Mr. Rice offered an amendment that the Brevet Lieutenant General be retired and there be no reduction of salary or sustenance. Agreed to; yeas 28, nays 11.

Mr. Sherman moved to give the retired list pay and no other allowance.

Mr. Sherman's amendment was adopted.

Mr. Hale moved to amend so that officers having the brevet rank would not receive any increase of pay. Agreed to.

Mr. Baker moved that Lieutenant General Scott be excepted.

Mr. Nesmith saw no reason for excepting.

Mr. Saulsbury said he should vote for it because he was glad that the Great Captain had not resigned and taken part with the seceded states. Agreed to; yeas 30, nays 6.

Mr. Foster moved to strike out the provision relative to the superintendent of the military academy so as to leave it as it is. Agreed to.

Mr. Hale moved to strike out all that portion relating to the retiring list of the army and navy. After a long discussion, the amendment was disagreed to; yeas 11, nays 27.

HOUSE.—Most of to-day has been consumed in discussing resolutions and appointing a committee to examine and inquire into all contracts made or to be made by the war department.

Mr. Kellogg, of Illinois, offered his objections to the resolutions, on the ground that there were no specific charges.

Mr. Van Wyck said there were specific charges of fraud by contractors. He understood without doubt, that within two short months, there has been a system of plunder, which, for audacity and wickedness, has never been surpassed. In this connection, he referred to the excess of pay for beef, hats, &c. He charged no department with complicity, but he would say there were men that had taken advantage of the necessity of the times, and plundered the country. Take the case of the steamboat Catiline—not worth more than $10,000. She was chartered for $10,000 per month, and $50,000 was to be paid for her in case she was lost. He would tell the house and the country, that the war department desired an examination into this affair.

Mr. Kellogg moved to lay the resolution on the table. Motion was disagreed to by 48 against 77. The resolution was then adopted by yeas 81, nays 41.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the bill to provide for increased revenue from imports, to pay the interest on the public debt, and for other purposes.

Mr. Morrill, of Vt, would vote for the proposed tariff bill, although it did not meet with his cordial support.

Mr. Pendleton offered an amendment to reduce the duty on iron.

Mr. Ward effectually endeavored to amend so that the bill take effect on the first of September instead of immediately; without action the committee rose.

Mr. Vallandigham gave notice of bills to regulate and enforce the writ of habeas corpus.

Special despatch to the Chicago Times.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., July 17.

Our forces under Gen. Patterson have had a splendid skirmish with Johnston and his rebel followers, putting them to flight in the most headlong manner.

Gen. Patterson, ascertaining that the rebel general, Johnston, was at Bunker Hill with a considerable force, started forward on Sunday night with a view to giving him battle, and dislodging him from his position.

By some unaccountable means information was conveyed to the enemy of this advance, whereupon Jonhston at once commenced breaking camp, intending to fall back on Winchester.

Gen. Patterson's advance was, however, too rapid for him, and the result was a partial surprise.

The federal advance was composed of 3 Pennsylvania regiments, a company of regular cavalry, and the celebrated Rhode Island battery of light artillery under Col. Tompkins.

A body of rebel cavalry, from six to eight hundred strong, under Col. Stewart, attempted a flank movement on the twenty-third Pennsylvania regiment, just as they were approaching Bunker Hill, not discovering the strength with which they were supported.

They came galloping down a cross road at a furious pace, evidently sure of a signal victory over the single regiment of infantry they had discovered.

The Pennsylvania troops stood firm, awaiting the charge with fixed bayonets, determined to sell themselves dearly.

Just as the rebels were upon the point of wheeling into the main road, Col. Tompkins brought his artillery to bear upon them with wonderful effect.

They were much surprised at this warm and unlooked for reception, and being thrown entirely off their guard, turned and fled in the utmost disorder.

Col. Thomas' detachment of regular cavalry came up at this moment, and at once gave chase. One captain and two or three privates were captured. Three of their men were killed, and about a dozen wounded.

Our forces escaped without the loss of a man.

The main body of Gen. Patterson's column were then brought up with dispatch, and separated into two divisions, with orders to proceed with all possible haste to Winchester, one column to take the route by Martinsburg and Charleston to Berryville, so as to cut off any retreat from Winchester to the Blue Ridge mountains, and the other to move down more to the west, and to attack the town from the front.

It is generally believed that the two columns would come upon the town to-day, when a bloody battle will not be unlikely to ensue.

GRAFTON, Va., July 16.

The rebels driven by Gen. Morris from Laurel Hill, still numbering three thousand escaped Gen. Hill near West Union, passing within a mile and a half of his army. He returned to Oakland, and started again to-day in pursuit.

Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.

WASHINGTON, July 16.

The formal movement across the Potomac was inaugurated on gigantic scale to-day. At an early hour the troops were mustered in every camp, and their arms and accoutrements put in the finest order. The bands played their most inspiriting airs, and thousands of citizens and strangers poured forth to witness the imposing spectacle. About one o'clock General Scott and staff crossed the river, preceding most of the regiments. The sight was most impressive and grand. The aged General seemed to have renewed his youth. His snowy locks were the only evidence of his venerable age. His eyes sparkled with the fire which a confidence alike in the justice and triumph of his cause had enkindled, and his almost giant stature rendered him conspicuous among the officers around him. The stranger could not mistake the Chief.

The demonstration considered only as a pageant was most successful, and the public are nearly as enthusiastic as over the news or even the sight of some hotly contested battle. All seem to feel that the Rubicon has now been passed and the war actually begun. There are at present fifty-five regiments between the Potomac and Fairfax Court House. The Ohio regiments are with the most advanced columns.

Special despatch to the Chicago Times.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 17.

The main advance of the Federal troops last night was made in three divisions.

The advance was led by General Dixon Miles.

A short engagement was had at Fairfax Court House this forenoon, in which our advance put to route the rebel forces that had been stationed at that point.

They retreated towards Centreville.

Seventeen of their number were killed.

Fairfax Court-House will be occupied to-night by ten thousand Federal troops.

Large quantities of flour and other provisions were captured, together with several pieces of ordinance and some ammunition.

The march from Alexandria was an excessively tedious one, the road being blocked up with all manner of obstructions.—The men, however, displayed the utmost willingness to labor in the removal of the obstructions that had been placed in the way. Details for sapper-and-miner duties were willingly submitted to, and the work cheerfully performed.

When the line reached Fairfax Court-House it was found that the men were too much fatigued to pursue the flying foe.

The enemy are concentrating at Centerville, nine miles further west on the turnpike.

Our troops will engage them at that place to-morrow.

The blow has now been struck, and the design is to push immediately forward, looking for an early union with Gen. Patterson's column from the valley of the Shenandoah, and Gen. McClellan's from west of the Alleghany Mountains, when the united force, invincible against any body the rebels can muster, will march on Richmond, and sweep the last vestige of secessionism from Virginia.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

A party of ladies and gentlemen from this city have just returned from Fairfax Court-House, whither they went, in the rear of the Grand Army, this morning.

They report that the rebels abandoned the place with the utmost precipitancy upon the approach of the Federal forces, leaving behind them large supplies of flour and beef, and a number of guns. These fell a prey to our victorious army.

Washington is wild with excitement over the result of the expedition.

Gen. Tyler, who led the column from Arlington Heights, occupies Falls Church, a settlement just without the District of Columbia, and about six miles west of Arlington, and also Vienna, on the Alexandria and Leesburg Railroad, four miles north of Fairfax Court-House.

His movements were admirably arranged, and most successfully carried out.

The enemy fled before him without giving his men a chance to disply their abilities in the sharp-shooting line.

The advance from Alexandria and Arlington last night consisted of fifty-three thousand infantry, besides cavalry and light artillery, making in all about fifty-five thousand.

A reserve force of forty thousand is held on the Potomac and in this city. This force can be pushed forward at any moment, if reinforcements shall become necessary.

The Orange and Alexandria Railroad is in perfect repair so far as Berks Station, five miles east of Fairfax Station, and immense supply trains have been running throughout the day to-day.

Any reinforcements that may be required will be sent out by rail, thus avoiding a tedious march.

The rebels have a force of not less than eighty thousand between here and Richmond, all of whom can be concentrated at Manassas Station if necessary.

A battle is looked for at Manassas.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Gen. Townsend, at the war department, states that Gen. McDowell is in full possession of Fairfax Court House, which he took this afternoon without loss except four wounded. The rebels fled precipitately. They were chiefly South Carolinias. Our army took large quantities of army stores, provisions and camp equipage.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Congress has made no real headway to-day. No adjournment this week is probable.

The house considered the tariff modification as recommended by the committee on ways and means, but they did nothing further than adopt an amendment offered by Mr. Arnold, of Illinois, fixing the duty on molasses at three cents instead of five.

Quite a breeze was raised in the house by Mr. Holman's resolution, giving the army contract investigating committee full powers to push their researches into all contracts now made or to be made in any department connected with the war. This was fought persistently by the Pennsylvania members, and by Kellogg, of Ill., who declared he would vote for no investigation which assumed at the start that there was corruption in the war department.

Mr. Van Wyck, chairman of the committee, hoped the house would not shrink from investigating matters which had already developed a degree of wickedness and corruption unparalleled.

The house voted, two to one, to grant the fullest power to the committee. A great many members, however, dodged.

The committee is a strong one, and will act fairly but thoroughly, taking the recess of congress for the work, and extending its researches everywhere where suspicion exists.

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.

A letter from Martinsburg, dated the 14th, says that Gen. Patterson was marching on Winchester by two different routes.

BUNKER HILL, Va., July 15—P. M.

Gen. Patterson's army moved this morning, 21,000 strong, for Winchester, encamping on Bunker Hill on to-night, after a slight skirmish with rebel cavalry.

The march will be resumed on Tuesday morning, and they will encamp at Winchester on the same night.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Herald's dispatch says at 1 o'clock, A. M., the enemy's works in the neighborhood of Fairfax, as far as Centerville, were attacked. Meeting with no resistance, the barricades were easily surmounted, and the roads cleared of trees which had been felled delaying the advance but a few minutes. At a steep hill there were stationed 200 rebel cavalry, who, without waiting to ascertain the strength of the advancing force, fled upon the first appearance of our skirmishers. They found a fortification about half a mile from the court house, consisting of a simple entrenchment extending about 400 yards each side of the road. It was pierced for eight guns. This had been occupied for about three weeks, by the 2d and 3d South Carolina regiments, under Gen. Bonham. On approaching this point our skirmishers had a brush with those of the rebels, in which one man received a flesh wound, and a rebel officer was captured. The advance of Burnsides' brigade reached the fortification in time to make a South Carolina officer prisoner.

The command then proceeded to Fairfax. The rebel flag was still flying at the court house when the advance of the division, with the band of the 1st Rhode Island regiment playing national airs, entered the village. It was taken down by some of the 2d Rhode Island resgiment, and handed to Gov. Sprague, and transmitted by him to Gen. McDowell as a regimental trophy.

GERMANTOWN, July 17—1 P. M.

The 1st Division of the Grand Aarmy under Gen. Tyler commenced moving at half past 5 this A. M. About a mile from the village a heavy obstruction was discovered in the road. In less than twenty minutes the whole of the barracade was removed.

The rebels abandoned their position as soon as Gen. Schenck's column commenced moving.

Hunt's Hill, some 2½ miles west of Vienna, was reached the enemy evidently still retreating.

A thick piece of timber was entered, in an opening of which was tangible evidences of the haste with which the rebels had retreated, for here were found a large number of blankets, pistols, guns, &c.

The column was about pushing on when the scouts reported a battery of several pieces, less than half a mile ahead.

Meantime other scouts came in and reported that the rebels had precipitatedly abandoned the battery, and were retreating in haste. The enemy disappeared and the entrenchments were quietly entered and taken possession of by the skirmishers. The position was a very strong one and could have easily been defended. The division will move on this p. m., to the vicinity of Centerville, where the enemy is said to be in strong forces.

2:30 P. M.—Gen. McDowell and staff has just arrived. All four divisions will move on towards the Junction to-morrow.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

The President has appointed John Armstrong postmaster.

FORT MONROE, July 17.

Steamers from Norfolk were seen landing troops troops this morning at Sewall's Point, where it is apparent that formidable preparations are being made to annoy our shipping and perhaps the fortress itself.

There are undoubtedly masked batteries at Willoughby Point, and opposite Rip Raps. These preparations will, however, be ineffectual in view of the terrible engines of destruction to be brought to bear against the rebels opposite the fortress in case they attempt to disturb us. Sewall's Point has no strategetic importance. Norfolk and Portsmouth are on the road to Richmond, but should the confederates annoy Old Point, they will be at once routed.

Two negroes, escaped from Big Point last night, bring report that the rebels are in large force opposite Newport News.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

A bill was introduced that all prepaid letters to the soldiers, addressed to them at the point where they are stationed, may, whenever possible, be sent to any other point without further charge. The bill passed.

Mr. Pendleton from the Judiciary Committee reported a bill for the relief of the Ohio volunteers. It provides for paying them at the time they arrive at the place of rendezvous, instead of from the time when they were sworn in, which was twelve days afterwards.

An amendment was also made directing the war department to pay the militia of other States similarly situated. The bill was then passed.

SENATE.—Secretrry Forney called the senate to order and stated that he had a note from the Vice President saying that he should be absent for the rest of the session.

A bill to provide for an assistant secretary of the navy was taken up, and after a short debate, was passed.

Mr. Hale moved to take up the bill for the better organization of the marine, which was agreed to. The amendments of the naval committee were adopted, and the bill passed.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

HOUSE.—Mr. Washburne, from the committee on commerce, reported a bill to remit fines and penalties in certain cases, incurred by reason of the closing of the southern ports, and consequently no collectors are there to give the proper papers to vessels leaving these ports. Bill passed.

Mr. Sheffield reported bills supplementary to acts to protect commerce and punish piracy—referred.

On motion of Mr. Elliot, a resolution was passed instructing the committee on commerce to inquire into the expediency of closing, by an act of congress, certain ports in the rebellous states, with leave to report by bill or otherwise.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Special to Herald.—Senator Simmons of Rhode Island, has prepared an entirely new tariff bill, which he intends to give as a substitute for the Hale bill, raising duties 10 per cent on all articles, when the duty will not exceed 50 per cent.

SYRACUSE, Mo., July 18.

The rumor current yesterday that a battle had taken place near Georgetown, between the Home Guards and rebels under Magoffin, proved to have been a hoax, started by rebels who gave out that Syracuse and Florence, a town 10 miles south of this place, were to be burned last night. Our citizens kept watch all night, but there was no disturbance.

Large numbers of men are reported as flying to Magoffin's aid.

LOUISVILLE, July 17.

Special despatch from Pensacola, dated 14th, says:—

Capt. Clauter, Montgomery Mounted Rifles, fired on the launch of a federal steamer near East Pass this a. m., killing several men, including the commanding officer.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

Special to the Post.—A courier from McDowell's headquarters reports that the army marched early this a. m., for Centerville. Gen. McDowell said last night that he believed that the rebels would fight there.

It is reported that the rebels under Johnston endeavored to effect a junction with Beauregard. Scouts report 30,000 to 40,000 rebels at Centerville and Manassas.

Special to Commercial.—Rumored that there has been an engagement at Centerville, but unconfirmed. The battery which accompanies McDowell consists of 8, 32-pounders. The largest field batery in the service.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, July 18.

A PATRIOTIC FAMILY.—A Washington dispatch to the Philadelphia Enquirer says that Brig. Gen. Issac Staat, late of Newport, R. I., had twenty-two children—sixteen of whom were boys, and nine of them are in the military and naval service. Four of them are in the Rhode Island regiment, four in the Massachusetts, and one in the 18th New York. The father was in the Mexican war, and died in 1851, leaving one hundred and twenty descendants.

UNION IN GEORGIA.—The Louisville Democrat says: We have received several letters from Georgia, about our daily and weekly papers. They all express an anxious wish for the reconstruction of the Union. We would gladly publish extracts from these letters, were it not that by so doing we might prejudice our friends; but we feel assured of this, that let the question once be fairly put, and the Empire State of the south will vote for a reconstruction.

Mr. Bright, M. P., followed Mr. Cobden in a speech at Rockdale, Eng., a few days ago, and took occasion to condemn the policy of the British government in giving encouragement to the late war against Russia. But he said:

"There is one thing—we did not breed any great military hero in the war, and we cannot be too thankful for that. (Laughter.) There is nothing in any country, depend upon it, so noxious as a great military hero."

HOW TO PURIFY RANCID LARD.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman furnishes the following receipe: "We had some 40 pounds rancid lard, which was valueless as it was. Knowing that the antiseptic quality of the chloride of soda, I procured three ounces, which was poured into a pailful of soft water, and when hot the lard added. After boiling it thoroughly together for an hour or two, it was set aside to cool. The lard was taken off when nearly cold, and was subsequently boiled up. The color was restored to an alabaster white, and the lard was as sweet as a rose."

HAPPY ISLANDERS.—By a late census it appears there are some 900 inhabitants, permanent settlers, on the islands on the southern shore of Lake Erie, mostly on Putin Bay, Kelly's North and Middle Bass Islands. There is not a doctor, a lawyer, nor a preacher among them; nor is there a sick person. A more happy, healthy, prosperous community is not to be found on the face of the earth.—Buffalo Express.

Dentistry.

M. B. Johnson still continues the practice of Dentistry at his new location, West Milwaukee street, over Moseley & Bro's Bookstore, Janesville, Wis. He is now manufacturing artificial Dentures on Vulcanized Rubber Base. This substance has been thoroughly tested, and found to be superior to many others. It is very strong and light, and is worn with greater ease and comfort than most anything else, and can be afforded at a price which places it within the reach of all. Call and see it. He also continues to make the Continuous Gum Work, which is superior to all others; together with all other styles of work now in use.

Agricultural Rooms.

JANESVILLE, July 16th, 1861.

DEAR SIR:—At the last meeting of the Rock County Agricultural Society and Mechanics Institute, the executive committee were instructed to rent the Fair Grounds, inasmuch as it was not deemed expedient for the society to hold a fair this year. It is now proposed to rent the grounds to such persons from the different parts of the county, as may choose to make an attempt to get up a fair by individual efforts; and you are particularly requested to be in attendance at the Court Room in Janesville, on SATURDAY, THE 20TH INST., at one o'clock P. M., to consult and take such action as may be thought expedient. By order of the executive committee.

Sunday School Picnic at Johnstown.

On Wednesday last, the Congregational and Methodist Episcopal Sunday Schools, those of Milton, the Sunday Schools of North Johnstown, Johnstown Centre and Johnstown, met in one of nature's beautiful groves, on land of Mr. Newhall, a short distance north of the county house, to enjoy one of those festive occasions which have become fixed institutions of the day and age.

In the forepart of the day, the weather was quite forbidding, which had a tendency to prevent many from joining in the exercises, but about 11 o'clock the rain ceased; and the four, the two and the one-horse vehicles, bearing their appropriate banners—not forgetting a generous sprinkling of stars and stripes—poured into the woods with their living freight, until six hundred or more were in close and social proximity.

A organization was effected by the choice of D. R. Spooner, Esq., as president of the day, when short, impromptu speeches were made at intervals, to the children and assemblage, more particularly the former, by Rev. Messrs. King, Jones, Watts and Davis, and Messrs. Hulse, Cary and Boynton, interspersed with singing by choir and children, led by Mr. R. Cheney, and accompanied by the sweet tones of a melodeon.

A table 209 feet long had been previously prepared, but it was found quite too short to receive all the good edibles which the wives and daughters had fixed up to cheer the inner man, and give strength to physical organizations.

The day passed off very pleasantly, without accident; and, after singing the "Star Spangled Banner," all retired in good order, doubtless well pleased with themselves and with each other. 1

I. O. O. F.—The members of "Janesville City Lodge, No. 90," are requested to be at the lodge room Friday evening, the 19th inst., at 7½ o'clock precisely, as business of great importance to all is to be transacted.

Advices from Pekin, (China,) to April 24th via Russia, say the insurgents are making considerable progress. They had beaten the Imperialists in a battle, and were marching rapidly on the capital.

The accounts from all parts of England, with reference to the grain crop, continue favorable.

The cabin passage from Quebec to Liverpool, by the Great Eastern, is only $65.

The Raleigh (N. C.) Register of the 10th says the steamer Winslow captured, off Cape Hatteras, on the 3d the schooner Herbert Martin, of Barnstable, Mass., with a cargo of sugar and molasses, valued at $30,000.

The Memphis Avalanche of the 12th inst., has a story that the privateer Sumter had entered Berwick Bay, bringing 55,000 Enfield rifles, and a number of rifled cannon, taken from an English ship bound for New Orleans, which had been ordered away from Balize by the blockading squadron.

AN OLD POST OFFICE CLERK.—There is a clerk in the New York post office who was employed some forty years ago to carry all the southern mails across the North River, on their way to the south. The accounts which he gives of his performances in that capacity are highly amusing, when compared with the extensive mail service of later years. He used to take all the mail bags in a small skiff, and scull his own boat. In the winter season, when the passage was obstructed by floating ice, he says he would often be compelled to haul his boat upon huge cakes of ice, push it across, and then embark again with his treasures.

Skirmish Between Indiana and Georgia Troops at Laurel Hill.

The correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, with Gen. McClellan's column, thus describes the skirmish between the Indiana and Georgia troops at Laurel Hill, on the 10th, prior to the general engagement:

Descending from our position in the afternoon, we found that a couple of companies of skirmishers had been sent out to meet the advance of the bodies we had seen marching down the road out of the enemy's camp. The skirmishing, which had been kept up briskly all day, was beginning to be much more lively, and it was evident that the wooded hill opposite our breastwork, and just beyond the village, was full of the enemy. Their fire seemed directed not only against our skirmishers, but also against the artillerymen standing at their guns, and the troops within the breastworks. Going down to the artillery, I found the balls whistling overhead and striking as far back as the position of the Seventh Indiana. Several soldiers had been struck by spent balls. Finally a bullet struck the saber of an artillery officer. This was getting a little too warm, and rapidly sighting the gun, he dropped a shell in the wood in the direction from which the bullet came. For a little while the enemy seemed repulsed; then they returned and began a sharp fire on our skirmishers. To aid the latter another shell was thrown towards the rebels. Our boys instantly sprang forward the moment the shell burst, and poured in a galling volley upon the enemy, picking off particularly the mounted officers.

As soon as the pieces were discharged the boys hurried back to the trees and fallen logs, behind which they concealed themselves. In their charge they had discovered that it was the Georgia regiment with which they were engaged, backed by a strong force of cavalry.

For a few moments all was quiet; then the rattle of musketry began again, our men apparently giving and taking in about equal proportions. An occasional shot from the enemy was still whistling around the artillery, when Col. Milroy, with the utter recklessness of personal danger characteristic of the man, sprang upon the breastwork, took off his hat and waved his men in the woods back, shouting, "Fall back, boys, we're going to fire another shell."—Standing there on the breastwork, his stalwart form and full Colonel's uniform made him a splendid mark, but he seemed to have no conception that he could be shot at.—The skirmishers made some reply from the woods (two or three hundred yards distant) which he could not understand; and there he stood, drawn up to his full height, with his head inclined forward, listening intently till he distinguished, amid the din of the small arms, the shout of the boys, "Fire more to the right." The gun was changed to the direction indicated, and another bomb sent flying into the midst of the rebels. Instantly our boys sprang forward, as the Georgians ran from the bursting shell, and poured in a deadly volley. For a few moments the fire was incessant, and our fellows were seen pushing farther and farther up into the woods. Suddenly they came flying back, and took refuge behind the logs and trees. The artillery threw another shell, and the boys sprang forward again, charged upon the scattering Georgians, drove them beyond their own intrenchments on the top of the hill, and actually chased them within half a mile of their camp!

There they kept up a straggling fire on the rebels till dusk, when they fell into line and marched down to camp as jolly and indifferent as if they were not right under the eye of the enemy they had been fighting.

Altogether this skirmish was a most spirited affair. The portions of two companies engaged (one from the 14th Ohio and the other from the 9th Indiana, with stragglers from several of the other regiments,) bore themselves nobly, and proved a fair match for the crack Georgia regiment, backed as it was with their cavalry. The enemy had every advantage. They were in possession of a high hill covered with a dense forest; they had their breastworks erected on the top of the hill, and their cavalry was ready to charge upon our skirmishers whenever they ventured out from behind their trees, and attempted to advance in anything like military order. It was our shells that did the business. The Georgians couldn't stand bombs, and after the first explosion, it was utterly impossible for their officers to rally them.

Our boys stood fire nobly. In fact, during the skirmish, but before any shells had been thrown, a Georgian, who was behind a tree some distance from one of our men, called out to him, "What troops are you?" Our soldier squatted around his tree, and seeing that there was no chance for a shot at his questioner, replied: "Ohio and Indiana volunteers." "Volunteers! hell," exclaimed the Georgian, "you needn't tell me that volunteers stand fire that way!"

The day's skirmish presented some instances of extraordinary daring. Perhaps the most astounding was that of a fellow who undertook to furnish the news to the rebels. I did not witness it myself, as it occurred while I was off on the hill, watching the enemy's camp, but I was assured by dozens who did see it, that one of the Milroy's Swamp Devils, (as the boys of the 9th Indiana are called), took a paper and deliberately walked up the road at the foot of the hill, on which the enemy was placed, till he got within convenient talking distance. Then asking them if they would like to have the news, and they having answered in the affirmative, he unfolded his paper and began, "Great battle at Manassas Gap; rebels completely routed; one thousand killed, ten thousand wounded, and nearly all the rest taken prisoners; all traitors to be hung and their property confiscated!" By this time the bullets began to rain down upon him rather thickly, and he beat a rapid retreat to a convenient tree, carefully folding up his paper as he went, and shouting back that if they would come over to camp he would give them the balance of the news!

HOW VIRGINIA LOOKS TO A NORTHERN MAN.—The portion of the state of Virginia that we have seen, near Arlington Heights, does not compare favorably with historical sketches. The soil is all but worthless.—The wheat and other crops would be looked upon by north-western tillers of the soil, as a failure—almost valueless. Nothing but wild fruit seems to flourish in this section; it may be accorded to the fact of this being a portion of the land first settled in Virginia. A great portion of the land thus far, however, has evidently been discarded. It is worn out. Blackberries, wortleberries, blueberries, &c., grow in abundance here. The forests which are densely thick are pine and cedar, some few oak or ash are to be met with unfrequently. None of those romantic Virginia cottages we have so often read of, and seen pictured in many of the good old school books, have as yet greeted my view.—LaCrosse Republican Cor.

STRIKING PROOF OF PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.—We have seen nothing which has so strikingly displayed public confidence in the government and its financial administration, in the great struggle in which it is embarked for the Union and constitution, as the promptness with which the sum of five millions of dollars was advanced to the secretary of the treasury, in New York, on Tuesday last, in response to a call for that sum—on such liberal terms, too, in the face of the great loan of two hundred and fifty millions about to be authorized by congress.

It was after business hours on Monday, the 8th inst., that Secretary Chase sent the following telegraphic dispatch to the assistant treasurer at New York:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, July 8.

John J. Cisco, New York, will issue six per cent. treasury notes at sixty days, to the amount of five millions dollars for five millions in coin. Please make arrangements forthwith. S. P. CHASE.

The dispatch was received the following morning, and Mr. Cisco immediately called a meeting of the leading bank officers and started a subscription, and before the close of business hours of the same day, the following dispatches were sent to the secretary, and reached Washington before he left the department for dinner:

NEW YORK, July 9.

To Hon. S. P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury:—I have obtained the subscription for the entire amount of five millions. Over three millions have already been paid in. JOHN J. CISCO.

NEW YORK, July 9.

S. P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury:—The five millions are secured.

JOHN A. STEVENS,
Prest. of Bank of Commerce.

We doubt whether the history of the department shows an instance of similar dispatch in negotiations.—National Intelligencer.

THE GRAIN TRADE OF MILWAUKEE.—The Sentinel of Tuesday says that reducing flour to wheat, the shipments of wheat from January 1st to July 14th, in each of the past three years, compares thus:

	Bus. Wheat.
1861	7,026,966
1860	3,040,460
1859	1,520,866

Receipts from the wheat crop of 1860, at Milwaukee to date, amount to 13,270,720 bushels, exclusive of deliveries by wagons.

RECEIVED A KICKING.—On Saturday night, a tall, nondescriptal specimen of humanity entered Monument Square as the band attached to Col. Lyle's Regiment was playing the "Star Spangled Banner." After the tune had been played our hero began hissing, and called for "Dixie." A soldier standing near handed his gun to a comrade, approaching the Dixieite, gave him an excellent kicking.

The operation was witnessed by several hundred persons, who were highly amused at it. Dixie slunk away from the neighborhood, looking as mean as a sheep stealing cur.—Baltimore Clipper.

HOW GEN. GARNETT WAS KILLED.—Gen. Garnett was shot by a sergeant of the 7th Indiana regiment, named Burlinghame, at a distance of about two hundred yards. Only one man, says the Wheeling Intelligencer, was near the general at the time, a beardless young man from Georgia, the troops having refused to rally. The Georgian was also killed at the same instant, he and his companion falling in different directions, feet to feet.—Cincinnati Gazette, 17th.

Some of the letters from volunteers are highly interesting, and cannot fail, in many instances, to cause the most sedate to smile at some of the incidents of soldiers' life.—One letter says to a friend, "my wife came on to see me at our camp. Thank heaven, she brought needles and thread with her. My rag-lan had nearly played out. My pants have been drilled to death. I have been walking in my boot-legs for three weeks. I wish my wife was a shoemaker. The boys will soon have their new harness. We are as happy as bobtailed horses in fly time."

LIEUT. M. F. MAURY.—This much petted traitor was an honorary member of the Marine Society of New York city. At their late regular quarterly meeting, Capt. Tinkham, secretary of the society, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the name of M. F. Maury, lately lieutenant in the United States navy, be stricken from our printed and written books, and blotted out by drawing black lines through the same, as being unworthy to be retained on the rolls of our society, by reason of his dastardly and traitorous conduct in deserting his country's flag at the very commencement of the existing rebellion, devised by a band of disappointed politicial robbers and traitors.

ABUSE OF LIBERALITY.—The Philadelphia correspondent of the New York Tribune says a woman has been detected in drawing pay from the volunteer fund for three husbands, while others have been allowed for five, six and seven children, when they had but one, and in some instances none. Thus it is that peculation of the public purse seems to rule from Floyd up to the commonest loafer.

To the Land Owners of Janesville.

Being about to leave for my post at Galway, Ireland, if those citizens having cheap lands for sale in this state, will furnish me with particulars, of the lowest price, terms of payment, quantity, quality, location, &c., I will most probably be enabled to find Irish purchasers, to whom my extensive knowledge of this country and my having written so copiously on it, enables me to give valuable information, and thus promote the best interests of all parties concerned. As for salubrity of climate and adaptation for agriculture, I think Wisconsin superior to any other western state, and my numerous friends here may rest assured that their beautiful "Bower City of the West," with its many educational and business facilities shall not be overlooked or forgotten. GREAT ARRIVAL

McKEY & BRO'S.

THIS is the third arrival of goods received this Spring and Summer by our house. The business we have done since the 1st day of March

HAS DOUBLED

that of former years, for the same period; allowing to the fact that we purchase our goods for nett cash. The stock now coming to hand was purchased at the Greatest Sacrifice,

less than half the cost of importation, by E. McKey, who has been east for the past two months. We have also a resident buyer in New York city, exclusively for the purpose of picking up the

in merchandize.

The immense rush to our house recently, is sufficient evidence in itself that we labor for the Benefit of the People.

We still continue to deal out to the community those great and incomparable bargains; for instance, we have in stock and shall continue to sell as usual, notwithstanding the great advance on Cotton Goods,

50,000 Yards of the Best Prints

In the United States, consisting of

MERRIMACK, COCHECO, PHILLIP ALLEN'S, SERAGUE'S

and every other good brand in the market, at 10 cents per yard, worth 1 shilling to-day in New York, Chicago or Milwaukee. Also,

20,000 Yds Full Madder Prints

at 8 cents, or 12½ yards for one dollar.

Received this day 50 Bales of

Sheetings, Ticks, Shirtings, Denims, &c., &c.

Anticipating an advance in Cotton Goods, we were induced to invest very largely in the article, enabling us to sell at our usual prices.

300 PIECES BEREGES

of all colors for dresses, to which we call attention. We will sell 12 yards of Berege for 75 cents; just the article for the season; only think, 6¼ cents per yard for Bereges.

175 Pieces Finest Berege DeLaine

in the market, at 20 cents per yard—all new styles—got up for this month expressly. The usual quantity of 1 shilling goods on hand. Please read the annexed attentively. We have this day received 4 cases of French and English

Mulls and Organdies,

cost of importation 56 cents, intended for the southern trade exclusively, and now offered by our house at 25 cents per yard. The patterns are original, and the first time ever offered in this city. About

10,000 Yards of Lawns

on hand. We offer 10 yards of fast colored Lawn for $1.

OUR STOCK OF

Dress Silks

is much larger than we have ever had at this season of the year. We offer this day a splendid heavy silk at

FIFTY CENTS, WORTH ONE DOLLAR.

We are now opening a large lot of

full yard wide, at 2 shillings per yard, never sold by us less than 3 shillings.

We have now open and ready for inspection between 2000 and 5000

SHAWLS AND CLOAKS,

consisting of Burnous, Shawlettes, Arabs and other styles at a great reduction from former prices.

Our stock of

is now complete, consisting of the following: Robes De Montijo, Emulsettes, Paris Poplins, Lustres, Mozambique, Mottled Modena, Milanos, Toile De Naples, Stella and Lucina Seraphines, French Organdies, Lawns, Figured Brilliants, French Calico, English and French Beregeand many other styles not mentioned.

All of the above have been purchased within the past week.

In Carpets, Oil Cloths and House Furnishing GOODS

we have a full and complete assortment.

It is now conceded that McKey & Bro.'s Clothing House is the place to get Clothing, Hats, Caps, &c., &c.

Our retail stock this day is larger than many Jobbing Houses in New York city.

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF

Boots and Shoes

on hand as usual, cheap.

Our Wholesale Trade has been large, much beyond our expectations, so much so, that we intend adding a large space for that department alone, to meet the wants of the coming Fall Trade.

We purchase for cash and can afford to undersell Western Houses who buy on credit and sell on the same terms, our business being done exclusively for cash.

In conclusion we would say that we never had a more

Complete or Well Selected Stock of Goods

since our commencement in business in this city, and were never more desirous of

REDUCING IT,

thereby offering to the public the

in the annals of merchandize.

Agricultural Rooms.

JANESVILLE, July 16th, 1861.

DEAR SIR:—At the last meeting of the Rock County Agricultural Society and Mechanics Institute, the executive committee were instructed to rent the Fair Grounds, inasmuch as it was not deemed expedient for the society to hold a fair this year. I is now proposed to rent the grounds to such persons from the different parts of the county, as may choose to make an attempt to get up a fair by individual efforts; and you are particularly requested to be in attendance at the Court Room in Janesville, on SATURDAY, THE 20TH INST., at one o'clock P. M., to consult and take such action as may be thought expedient. By order of the executive committee.

G. S. STRASBERGER,
Recording Secretary.

Sunday School Picnic at Johnstown.

On Wednesday last, the Congregational and Methodist Episcopal Sunday Schools, those of Milton, the Sunday Schools of North Johnstown, Johnstown Centre and Johnstown, met in one of nature's beautiful groves, on land of Mr. Newhall, a short distance north of the county house, to enjoy one of those festive occasions which have become fixed institutions of the day and age.

In the forepart of the day, the weather was quite forbidding, which had a tendency to prevent many from joining in the exercises, but about 11 o'clock the rain ceased; and the four, the two and the one-horse vehicles, bearing their appropriate banners—not forgetting a generous sprinkling of stars and stripes—poured into the woods with their living freight, until six hundred or more were in close and social proximity.

A organization was effected by the choice of D. R. Spooner, Esq., as president of the day, when short, impromptu speeches were made at intervals, to the children and assemblage, more particularly the former, by Rev. Messrs. King, Jones, Watts and Davis, and Messrs. Hulse, Cary and Boynton, interspersed with singing by choir and children, led by Mr. R. Cheney, and accompanied by the sweet tones of a melodeon.

A table 200 feet long had been previously prepared, but it was found quite too short to receive all the good edibles which the wives and daughters had fixed up to cheer the inner man, and give strength to physical organizations.

The day passed off very pleasantly, without accident; and, after singing the "Star Spangled Banner," all retired in good order, doubtless well pleased with themselves and with each other. ‡

I. O. O. F.—The members of "Janesville City Lodge, No. 90," are requested to be at the lodge room Friday evening, the 19th inst., at 7½ o'clock precisely, as business of great importance to all is to be transacted.

Advices from Pekin, (China,) to April 24th via Russia, say the insurgents are making considerable progress. They had beaten the Imperialists in a battle, and were marching rapidly on the capital.

The accounts from all parts of England, with reference to the grain crop, continue favorable.

The cabin passage from Quebec to Liverpool, by the Great Eastern, is only $65.

The Raleigh (N. C.) Register of the 10th says the steamer Winslow captured, off Cape Hatteras, on the 3d the schooner Herbert Martin, of Barnstable, Mass., with a cargo of sugar and molasses, valued at $30,000.

The Memphis Avalanche of the 12th inst., has a story that the privateer Sumter had entered Berwick Bay, bringing 55,000 Enfield rifles, and a number of rifled cannon, taken from an English ship bound for New Orleans, which had been ordered away from Balize by the blockading squadron.

AN OLD POST OFFICE CLERK.—There is a clerk in the New York post-office who was employed some forty years ago to carry all the southern mails across the North River, on their way to the south. The accounts which he gives of his performances in that capacity are highly amusing, when compared with the extensive mail service of later years. He used to take all the mail bags in a small skiff, and scull his own boat. In the winter season, when the passage was obstructed by floating ice, he says he would often be compelled to haul his boat upon huge cakes of ice, push it across, and then embark again with his treasures.

Skirmish Between Indiana and Georgia Troops at Laurel Hill.

The correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, with Gen. McClellan's column, thus describes the skirmish between the Indiana and Georgia troops at Laurel Hill, on the 10th, prior to the general engagement:

Descending from our position in the afternoon, we found that a couple of companies of skirmishers had been sent out to meet the advance of the bodies we had seen marching down the road out of the enemy's camp. The skirmishing, which had been kept up briskly all day, was beginning to be much more lively, and it was evident that the wooded hill opposite our breastwork, and just beyond the village, was full of the enemy. Their fire seemed directed not only against our skirmishers, but also against the artillerymen standing at their guns, and the troops within the breastworks. Going down to the artillery, I found the balls whistling overhead and striking as far back as the position of the Seventh Indiana. Several soldiers had been struck by spent balls. Finally a bullet struck the saber of an artillery officer. This was getting a little too warm, and rapidly sighting the gun, he dropped a shell in the wood in the direction from which the bullet came. For a little while the enemy seemed repulsed; then they returned and began a sharp fire on our skirmishers. To aid the latter another shell was thrown towards the rebels. Our boys instantly sprang forward the moment the shell burst, and poured in a galling volley upon the enemy, picking off particularly the mounted officers.

As soon as the pieces were discharged the boys hurried back to the trees and fallen logs, behind which they concealed themselves. In their charge they had discovered that it was the Georgia regiment with which they were engaged, backed by a strong force of cavalry.

For a few moments all was quiet; then the rattle of musketry began again, our men apparently giving and taking in about equal proportions. An occasional shot from the enemy was still whistling around the artillery, when Col. Milroy, with the utter recklessness of personal danger characteristic of the man, sprang upon the breastwork, took off his hat and waved his men in the woods back, shouting, "Full back, boys, we're going to fire another shell."—Standing there on the breastwork, his stalwart form and full Colonel's uniform made him a splendid mark, but he seemed to have no conception that he could be shot at.—The skirmishers made some reply from the woods (two or three hundred yards distant) which he could not understand; and there he stood, drawn up to his full height, with his head inclined forward, listening intently till he distinguished, amid the din of the small arms, the shout of the boys, "Fire more to the right." The gun was changed to the direction indicated, and another bomb sent flying into the midst of the rebels. Instantly our boys sprang forward, as the Georgians ran from the bursting shell, and poured in a deadly volley. For a few moments the fire was incessant, and our fellows were seen pushing farther and farther up into the woods. Suddenly they came flying back, and took refuge behind the logs and trees. The artillery threw another shell, and the boys sprang forward again, charged upon the scattering Georgians, drove them beyond their own intrenchments on the top of the hill, and actually chased them within half a mile of their camp!

There they kept up a straggling fire on the rebels till dusk, when they fell into line and marched down to camp as jolly and indifferent as if they were not right under the eye of the enemy they had been fighting.

Altogether this skirmish was a most spirited affair. The portions of two companies engaged (one from the 14th Ohio and the other from the 9th Indiana, with stragglers from several of the other regiments,) bore themselves nobly, and proved a fair match for the crack Georgia regiment, backed as it was with their cavalry. The enemy had every advantage. They were in possession of a high hill covered with a dense forest; they had their breastworks erected on the top of the hill, and their cavalry was ready to charge upon our skirmishers whenever they ventured out from behind their trees, and attempted to advance in anything like military order. It was our shells that did the business. The Georgians couldn't stand bombs, and after the first explosion, it was utterly impossible for their officers to rally them.

Our boys stood fire nobly. In fact, during the skirmish, but before any shells had been thrown, a Georgian, who was behind a tree some distance from one of our men, called out to him, "What troops are you?" Our soldier squinted around his tree, and seeing that there was no chance for a shot at his questioner, replied: "Ohio and Indiana volunteers." "Volunteers! hell," exclaimed the Georgian, "you needn't tell me that volunteers stand fire that way!"

The day's skirmish presented some instances of extraordinary daring. Perhaps the most astounding was that of a fellow who undertook to furnish the news to the rebels. I did not witness it myself, as it occurred while I was off on the hill, watching the enemy's camp, but I was assured by dozens who did see it, that one of the Milroy's Swamp Devils, (as the boys of the 9th Indiana are called), took a paper and deliberately walked up the road at the foot of the hill, on which the enemy was placed, till he got within convenient talking distance. Then asking them if they would like to have the news, and they having answered in the affirmative, he unfolded his paper and began, "Great battle at Manassas Gap.; rebels completely routed; one thousand killed, ten thousand wounded, and nearly all the rest taken prisoners; all traitors to be hung and their property confiscated!" By this time the bullets began to rain down upon him rather thickly, and he beat a rapid retreat to a convenient tree, carefully folding up his paper as he went, and shouting back that if they would come over to camp he would give them the balance of the news!

HOW VIRGINIA LOOKS TO A NORTHERN MAN.—The portion of the state of Virginia that we have seen, near Arlington Heights, does not compare favorably with historical sketches. The soil is all but worthless.—The wheat and other crops would be looked upon by north-western tillers of the soil, as a failure—almost valueless. Nothing but wild fruit seems to flourish in this section; it may be accorded to the fact of this being a portion of the land first settled in Virginia. A great portion of the land thus far, however, has evidently been discarded. It is worn out. Blackberries, wortleberries, blueberries, &c., grow in abundance here. The forests which are densely thick are pine and cedar, some few oak or ash are to be met with unfrequently. None of those romantic Virginia cottages we have so often read of, and seen pictured in many of the good old school books, have as yet greeted my view.—La Crosse Republican Cor.

STRIKING PROOF OF PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.—We have seen nothing which has so strikingly displayed public confidence in the government and its financial administration, in the great struggle in which it is embarked for the Union and constitution, as the promptness with which the sum of five millions of dollars was advanced to the secretary of the treasury, in New York, on Tuesday last, in response to a call for that sum—on such liberal terms, too, in the face of the great loan of two hundred and fifty millions about to be authorized by congress.

It was after business hours on Monday, the 8th inst., that Secretary Chase sent the following telegraphic dispatch to the assistant treasurer at New York:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, July 8.

John J. Cisco, New York, will issue six per cent. treasury notes at sixty days, to the amount of five millions dollars for five millions in coin. Please make arrangements forthwith. S. P. CHASE.

The dispatch was received the following morning, and Mr. Cisco immediately called a meeting of the leading bank officers and started a subscription, and before the close of business hours of the same day, the following dispatches were sent to the secretary, and reached Washington before he left the department for dinner:

NEW YORK, July 9.

To Hon. S. P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury:—I have obtained the subscription for the entire amount of five millions. Over three millions have already been paid in. JOHN J. CISCO.

NEW YORK, July 9.

S. P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury:—The five millions are secured.

JOHN A. STEVENS,
Prest. of Bank of Commerce.

We doubt whether the history of the department shows an instance of similar dispatch in negotiations.—National Intelligencer.

THE GRAIN TRADE OF MILWAUKEE.—The Sentinel of Tuesday says that reducing flour to wheat, the shipments of wheat from January 1st to July 14th, in each of the past three years, compares thus:

	Bus. Wheat.
1861	7,026,966
1860	3,040,460
1859	1,520,866

Receipts from the wheat crop of 1860, at Milwaukee to date, amount to 13,270,720 bushels, exclusive of deliveries by wagons.

RECEIVED A KICKING.—On Saturday night, a tall, nondescriptal specimen of humanity entered Monument Square as the band attached to Col. Lyle's Regiment was playing the "Star Spangled Banner." After the tune had been played our hero began hissing, and called for "Dixie." A soldier standing near handed his gun to a comrade, approaching the Dixieite, gave him an excellent kicking.

The operation was witnessed by several hundred persons, who were highly amused at it. Dixie slunk away from the neighborhood, looking as mean as a sheep stealing cur.—Baltimore Clipper.

HOW GEN. GARNETT WAS KILLED.—Gen. Garnett was shot by a sergeant of the 7th Indiana regiment, named Burlinghame, at a distance of about two hundred yards. Only one man, says the Wheeling Intelligencer, was near the general at the time, a beardless young man from Georgia, the troops having refused to rally. The Georgian was also killed at the same instant, he and his companion falling in different directions, feet to feet.—Cincinnati Gazette, 17th.

Some of the letters from volunteers are highly interesting, and cannot fail, in many instances, to cause the most sedate to smile at some of the incidents of soldiers' life.—One letter says to a friend, "my wife came on to see me at our camp. Thank heaven, she brought needles and thread with her. My rag-lan had nearly played out. My pants have been drilled to death. I have been walking in my boot-legs for three weeks. I wish my wife was a shoemaker. The boys will soon have their new harness. We are as happy as bobtailed horses in fly me."

LIEUT. M. F. MAURY.—This much petted traitor was an honorary member of the Marine Society of New York city. At their late regular quarterly meeting, Capt. Tinkham, secretary of the society, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the name of M. F. Maury, lately lieutenant in the United States navy, be stricken from our printed and written books, and blotted out by drawing black lines through the same, as being unworthy to be retained on the rolls of our society, by reason of his dastardly and traitorous conduct in deserting his country's flag at the very commencement of the existing rebellion, devised by a band of disappointed political robbers and traitors.

ABUSE OF LIBERALITY.—The Philadelphia correspondent of the New York Tribune says a woman has been detected in drawing pay from the volunteer fund for three husbands, while others have been allowed for five, six and seven children, when they had but one, and in some instances none. Thus it is that peculation of the public purse seems to rule from Floyd up to the commonest loafer.

To the Land Owners of Janesville.

Being about to leave for my post at Galway, Ireland, if those citizens having cheap lands for sale in this state, will furnish me with particulars, of the lowest price, terms of payment, quantity, quality, location, &c., I will most probably be enabled to find Irish purchasers, to whom my extensive knowledge of this country and my having written so copiously on it, enables me to give valuable information, and thus promote the best interests of all parties concerned. As for salubrity of climate and adaptation for agriculture, I think Wisconsin superior to any other western state, and my numerous friends here may rest assured that their beautiful "Bower City of the West," with its many educational and business facilities shall not be overlooked or forgotten. McKey & Bro.'s July Circular.

McKEY & BRO'S.

THIS is the third arrival of goods received this Spring and Summer by our house. The business we have done since the 1st day of March that of former years, for the same period; all owing to the fact that we purchase our goods for nett cash. The stock now coming to hand was purchased at the

HAS DOUBLED

Greatest Sacrifice,

less than half the cost of importation, by E. McKey, who has been east for the past two months. We have also a resident buyer in New York city, exclusively for the purpose of picking up the

in merchandize.

The immense rush to our house recently, is sufficient evidence in itself that we labor for the Benefit of the People.

We still continue to deal out to the community those great and incomparable bargains; for instance, we have in stock and shall continue to sell as usual, notwithstanding the great advance on Cotton Goods,

50,000 Yards of the Best Prints

in the United States, consisting of

MERRIMACK, COCHECO, PHILLIP ALLEN'S, SPRAGUES

and every other good brand in the market, at 10 cents per yard, worth 1 shilling to-day in New York, Chicago or Milwaukee. Also,

20,000 Yds Full Madder Prints

at 8 cents, or 12½ yards for one dollar.

Sheetings, Ticks, Shirtings, Denims, &c., &c.

Anticipating an advance in Cotton Goods, we were induced to invest very largely in the article, enabling us to sell at our usual prices.

300 PIECES BEREGES

of all colors for dresses, to which we call attention. We will sell 12 yards of Berege for 75 cents; just the article for the season; only think, 6¼ cents per yard for Bereges.

175 Pieces Finest Berege DeLaine

in the market, at 20 cents per yard—all new styles—got up for this month expressly. The usual quantity of 1 shilling goods on hand. Please read the annexed attentively. We have this day received 4 cases of French and English

Mulls and Organdies,

cost of importation 56 cents, intended for the southern trade exclusively, and now offered by our house at 25 cents per yard. The patterns are original, and the first time ever offered in this city. About on hand. We offer 10 yards of fast colored Lawn for $1.

10,000 Yards of Lawns

OUR STOCK OF

Dress Silks

is much larger than we have ever had at this season of the year. We offer this day a splendid heavy silk at

FIFTY CENTS, WORTH ONE DOLLAR.

We are now opening a large lot of

full yard wide, at 2 shillings per yard, never sold by us less than 3 shillings.

SHAWLS AND CLOAKS,

consisting of Burnous, Shawlettes, Arabs and other styles at a great reduction from former prices.

Our stock of

is now complete, consisting of the following: Robes De Montijo, Erminettes, Paris Poplins, Lustres, Mozambique, Mottled Modena, Milanos, Tolio De Naples, Stella and Lucina Seraphines, French Organdies, Lawns, Figured Brilliants, French Calico, English and French Bereges and many other styles not mentioned.

All of the above have been purchased within the past week.

In Carpets, Oil Cloths and House Furnishing GOODS

we have a full and complete assortment.

Clothing, Hats, Caps, &c., &c.

Our retail stock this day is larger than many Jobbing Houses in New York city.

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF

on hand as usual, cheap.

Our Wholesale Trade has been large, much beyond our expectations, so much so, that we intend adding a large space for that department alone, to meet the wants of the coming Fall Trade.

We purchase for cash and can afford to undersell Western Houses who buy on credit and sell on the same terms, our business being done exclusively for cash.

In conclusion we would say that we never had a more

Complete or Well Selected Stock of Goods

since our commencement in business in this city, and were never more desirous of

REDUCING IT,

thereby offering to the public the

in the annals of merchandize.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,
CASH CAPITAL OVER - - $1,900,000
all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, delicate females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

The genuine have five signatures of Henry C. Spalding on each box.

Sold by Druggists and all other dealers in Medicines.

A box will be sent by mail prepaid on receipt of the Useful and Economical.

THE MOST USEFUL

MACHINES AND IMPLEMENTS

SUBJECTS OF PATENTS.

"INVENTORS are public benefactors. To be liberal in their protection, is only to be just towards the rights of property, and tends to increase the public wealth and hastens the progress of practical improvements and of science. * * * The settled doctrine of the courts, now, under the light of large experience, is, to incline to constructions most favorable to patents."—Extract from opinion of U. S. Court in a late Patent Case.

Three-fifths of the earth's surface is covered with water. Vast sums of money and the best mechanical and engineering skill has, for ages, been employed to perfect machinery to bring this universal and indispensable element into convenient use.

May's Patents.

Double and Single Acting Pumps.

For any depth of mining shafts and wells, open or drilled, to 500 feet.

No suction pipes, no packing, no bolts, no pumping rods.

Are composed of two metalic cylinders and two brass valves, and wrought-iron conducting pipe.

Are operated by a wrought-iron lever, and by means of a compensating balance device, they work very easy by hand, wind mill or other power, at whatever depth, and work without noise.

They cannot freeze.

Save Repairs, Vexation and Expense!!!

Those longest in use (about 2 years) need no repairs and exhibit no perceptible wear, and possess valuable qualities unknown in any other pumps.

"Blow winds and crack your cheeks! rage! blow!"
—King Lear.

The winds are found to be the Cheapest Motor in existence and highly serviceable for many mechanical purposes, as pumping, sawing, turning, grinding, &c., &c.

WIND ENGINES, OR MILLS,

LATEST IMPROVEMENTS,

May's Patents.

These ENGINES are perfectly self-regulating and under easy control, independent of their self-governing qualities.

They are STRONG and DURABLE,

No pains or expense has been spaired to simplify and perfect both pumps and engines to make them UNRIVALLED in quality, and ECONOMICAL in price.

Every article, whether Pump or Engine, WARRANTED.

Call and examine thoroughly before buying.

Orders Filled on Short Notice!!

These Pumps and Engines are secured by

Like most valuable Patents, they are already infringed.

Infringement rigidly prosecuted, unless settled.

N. B.—Large inducements to active, thorough, competent men, to canvass and supply specific territory, as towns, counties, districts, &c.
Address as above.

From the favorable opinions of Agriculturalists and others using these Engines and Pumps, together and separate, the following are selected:

Pumps, Without Engine,

In a half hour at ordinary pumping speed, I supply my stock of from forty to fifty head of cattle and horses, with one of May's Patent Pumps. Well 70 feet deep, last 30 feet drilled. I can find no fault with this pump, and use it in place of another kind that was very often out of repair. Being composed of few and strong pieces, and built on scientific principles, I think they must be very durable. R. W. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock county, Wis., January 29th, 1861.

I supply with water 600 sheep, some 60 head of cattle and 10 head of horses, with May's Patent Pump. Its great strength, apparent durability and above all the great amount of water it raises in a short time, and its easy working, gives it with me a decided preference over any other pump in the market.
C. M. CLARK.

Whitewater, Walworth Co., Wis., Jan. 31st, 1861.

Since the 1st of October last we have been using one of May's Patent Pumps, and it gives us entire satisfaction. Our well is 120 feet deep and the pump is worked by horse power or by hand. In addition to pumping water for stock and farm purposes, we use large quantities for our Brewery. REEVES & WADDLE.

Middleton, Dane county, Wis., Jan. 22d, 1861.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps in place of a deep well pump of another kind, that was often out of order and worked hard. Well 122 feet deep, 72 feet drilled in solid rock, and pump placed 101 feet from surface. Its great strength and simplicity pleases me, and am surprised and gratified with the large amount of water raised with little labor, 6 to 8 full strokes of the lever filling a bucket. I deem it one of the most valuable improvements of the age for raising water.
JOHN TRACY.

Center, Rock county, Wis., Feb. 27th, 1861.

Pumps, With Engines.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps and Self-Regulating Wind Engine (or Mill) on one of my farms near Janesville. Well 53 feet deep. Pump and mill used together, or may be separated in a moment. One to two hours daily is sufficient to pump water for my stock. Also, the pump works very easy by hand and is the first one, after trying different kinds, that gives me entire satisfaction. Having no bolts, packing, suction pipe, or pumping rods, and being made heavy and strong, think they must be very durable. A. HOSKINS.

Janesville, Jan. 11th, 1861.

I am using a wind engine, and pump of May's patent in a well 65 feet deep. I deem them very valuable improvements, and agree with Mr. Hoskins in the above expressed opinion. I had been using a Seneca Falls pump that did not answer my purpose.
WM. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock Co., Wis., Jan. 24th, 1861.

Engines.

Rock Terrace, Wis., Feb. 6th, 1861.

Since November 1858, I have been using one of May's Patent Wind Engines, pumping water from a well 186 feet deep. The Engine is a powerful one, often pumping fifty barrels of water per day. It stands 110 feet from the well and the power is communicated from the Engine to the well, underground.

I deem these Engines of great value, saving a vast amount of hard manual labor, and as their merits are understood, think they must come into general use.
J. V. ROBBINS.

These pumps and engines have taken first premiums when exhibited in competition at state and county fairs.

Write for price lists &c., and if estimates are wanted give depth of well—open or drilled, and amount of water required. Address as above.

Also for sale, the Patents in the unsold territory for Badger's Portable Grist Mill, Gilmore & May's Rock Drill, Stone Dressing Machine and Quartz Rock Crusher, and Nash & Cutts' Grain Separator. All late Patents, are meritorious and sell freely. Address,
J. M. MAY, Agent, &c., as above.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, delicate females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

Useful and Economical.

THE MOST USEFUL

MACHINES AND IMPLEMENTS

SUBJECTS OF PATENTS.

"INVENTORS are public benefactors. To be liberal in their protection, is only to be just towards the rights of property, and tends to increase the public wealth and hasten the progress of practical improvements and of science. * * * The settled doctrine of the courts, now, under the light of large experience, is, to incline to constructions most favorable to patents."—Extract from opinion of U. S. Court in a late Patent Case.

Three-fifths of the earth's surface is covered with water. Vast sums of money and the best mechanical and engineering skill has, for ages, been employed to perfect machinery to bring this universal and indispensable element into convenient use.

May's Patents.

Double and Single Acting Pumps.

For any depth of mining shafts and wells, open or drilled, to 500 feet.

No suction pipes, no packing, no bolts, no pumping rods.

Are composed of two metalic cylinders and two brass valves, and wrought-iron conducting pipe.

Are operated by a wrought-iron lever, and by means of a compensating balance device, they work very easy by hand, wind mill or other power, at whatever depth, and work without noise.

They cannot freeze.

Save Repairs, Vexation and Expense!!!

Those longest in use (about 2 years) need no repairs and exhibit no perceptible wear, and possess valuable qualities unknown in any other pumps.

—King Lear.

The winds are found to be the Cheapest Motor in existence and highly serviceable for many mechanical purposes, as pumping, sawing, turning, grinding, &c., &c.

WIND ENGINES, OR MILLS,

LATEST IMPROVEMENTS.

May's Patents.

These ENGINES are perfectly self-regulating and under easy control, independent of their self-governing qualities.

They are STRONG and DURABLE.

No pains or expense has been spaired to simplify and perfect both pumps and engines to make them UNRIVALLED in quality, and ECONOMICAL in price.

Every article, whether Pump or Engine, WARRANTED.

Call and examine thoroughly before buying.

Orders Filled on Short Notice!!

These Pumps and Engines are secured by

Five Patents and Fifteen Claims.

Like most valuable Patents, they are already infringed.

Infringement rigidly prosecuted, unless settled.

CARY'S ROTARY FORCE PUMPS,

for Mills, Factories, &c., and some of the best unpatented pumps, in prices from $2.50 and upwards. Any person with a little mechanical skill can set them up, but competent workmen furnished when desired, at their per diem wages and expenses.

Address as above.

From the favorable opinions of Agriculturists and others using these Engines and Pumps, together and separate, the following are selected:

Pumps, Without Engine,

In a half hour at ordinary pumping speed, I supply my stock of from forty to fifty head of cattle and horses, with one of May's Patent Pumps. Well 70 feet deep, last 30 feet drilled. I can find no fault with this pump, and use it in place of another kind that was very often out of repair. Being composed of few and strong pieces, and built on scientific principles, I think they must be very durable. R. W. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock county, Wis., January 29th, 1861.

I supply with water 690 sheep, some 60 head of cattle and 10 head of horses, with May's Patent Pump. Its great strength, apparent durability and above all the great amount of water it raises in a short time, and its easy working, gives it with me a decided preference over any other pump in the market.

C. M. CLARK.

Whitewater, Walworth Co., Wis., Jan. 31st, 1861.

Since the 1st of October last we have been using one of May's Patent Pumps, and it gives us entire satisfaction. Our well is 120 feet deep and the pump is worked by horse power or by hand. In addition to pumping water for stock and farm purposes, we use large quantities for our Brewery. REEVES & WADDLE.

Middleton, Dane county, Wis., Jan. 22d, 1861.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps in place of a deep well pump of another kind, that was often out of order and worked hard. Well 122 feet deep, 72 feet drilled in solid rock, and pump placed 101 feet from surface. Its great strength and simplicity pleases me, and am surprised and gratified with the large amount of water raised with little labor, 6 to 8 full strokes of the lever filling a bucket. I deem it one of the most valuable improvements of the age for raising water.

JOHN TRACY.

Center, Rock county, Wis., Feb. 27th, 1861.

Pumps, With Engines.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps and Self-Regulating Wind Engine (or Mill) on one of my farms near Janesville. Well 52 feet deep. Pump and mill used together, or may be separated in a moment. One to two hours daily is sufficient to pump water for my stock. Also, the pump works very easy by hand and is the first one, after trying different kinds, that gives me entire satisfaction. Having no bolts, packing, suction pipe, or pumping rods, and being made heavy and strong, think they must be very durable. A. HOSKINS.

Janesville, Jan. 11th, 1861.

I am using a wind engine, and pump of May's patent in a well 65 feet deep. I deem them very valuable improvements, and agree with Mr. Hoskins in the above expressed opinion. I had been using a Seneca Falls pump that did not answer my purpose.

WM. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock Co., Wis., Jan. 24th, 1861.

Engines.

Rock Terrace, Wis., Feb. 6th, 1861.

Since November 1858, I have been using one of May's Patent Wind Engines, pumping water from a well 186 feet deep. The Engine is a powerful one, often pumping fifty barrels of water per day. It stands 110 feet from the well and the power is communicated from the Engine to the well, underground.

I deem these Engines of great value, saving a vast amount of hard manual labor, and as their merits are understood, think they must come into general use.

J. V. ROBBINS.

These pumps and engines have taken first premiums when exhibited in competition at state and county fairs.

Write for price lists &c., and if estimates are wanted give depth of well—open or drilled, and amount of water required. Address as above.

Also for sale, the Patents in the unsold territory for Badger's Portable Grist Mill, Gilmore & May's Rock Drill, Stone Dressing Machine and Quartz Rock Crusher, and Nash & Cutts' Grain Separator. All late Patents, are meritorious and sell freely. Address,

J. M. MAY, Agent, &c., as above.

SLOAT'S SEWING MACHINES,

CAN be seen a few doors east of the Post Office, Milwaukee street. These Machines have proved their superiority over those heretofore offered to the public from the following merits: The elasticity of the seam. The complete adaptability to all thickness of fabric.—They are the swiftest machines in use and least liable to get out of order. They are so simple and complete in their construction as not to require a practical hand to use them. They Hem, Fell and Gather.

These machines will be kept in repair one year Free of Charge. F. L. RAYNOR,

AN ORDINANCE to restrict the owners or drivers of horses attached to vehicles from leaving the same unsecured.

The Mayor and Common Council of the City of Janesville do ordain as follows:

SEC. 1. It shall not be lawful for any owner or driver, or any person in charge of any vehicle whatsoever to leave his horse or horses attached thereto, in any of the streets of this city, without first securing such horse or horses by means of a sufficient halter, rope or chain, or without some suitable person to take the charge or guidance of them so as to prevent their running.

SEC. 2. If any such person shall violate the provisions of the preceeding section, he and his employer or employers, jointly and severally, shall forfeit a sum not exceeding twenty dollars.

SEC. 3. It is hereby made the duty of each and every constable to inforce this ordinance.

SEC. 4. All horses so found running at large may be taken by said constable and held as contraband of war.

ADVENTURES OF A SPY.

I have lately returned from the south, but my exact whereabouts in that region, for obvious reasons, it would not be politic to state. Suspected of being a northerner, it was often to my advantage to court obscurity. Known as a spy, a "short shrift" and a ready rope would have prevented the blotting of this paper. Hanging, disguised, on the outskirts of a camp, mixing with its idlers, laughing at their jokes, examining their arms, counting their numbers, endeavoring to discover the plans of their leaders, listening to this party and pursuing that, joining in the chorus of a rebel song, betting on rebel success, cursing abolitionists, reviling Lincoln, traducing Scott, extolling Beauregard, despising northern fighters, laughing at their tactics and sneering at their weapons, praising the beauty of southern belles and decrying that of northern, calling New York a den of cut-throats, and New Orleans a paradise of immaculate chivalry, is qute a small portion of the practice of my profession as a spy. This may not seem honorable or desirable. As to the honor, let the country that benefits by the investigations and warnings of the spy be judged; and the danger, often incurred, is more serious and personal than that of the battle-field, which may, perhaps, detract from its desirability.

It was a dark night. Not a star on the glimmer. I had collected my quantum of intelligence and was on the move for the northern line. I was approaching the banks of a stream whose waters I had to cross, and had then some miles to traverse before I could reach the pickets of our gallant troops. A feeling of uneasiness began to creep over me; I was on the outskirts of a wood fringing the dark waters at my feet, whose presence could scarcely be detected but for their sullen murmurs as they rushed through the gloom. The wind sighed in gentle accordance. I walked forty or fifty yards along the bank. I then crept on all fours along the ground and groped with my hands;—I paused—I groped again—my breath thickened, perspiration oozed from me at every pore, and I was prostrated with horror! I had missed my landmark and knew not where I was. Below or above, beneath the shelter of the bank, lay the skiff I had hidden, ten days before, when I commenced my operations among the followers of Jeff. Davis.

As I stood grasping for breath, with all the unmistakable proofs of my calling about me, the sudden cry of a bird or plunging of a fish would act like magnetism on my frame, not wont to shudder at a shadow. No matter how pressing the danger may be, if a man sees an opening for escape he breathes with freedom. But let him be surrounded by darkness, impenetrable at two yards distance, within rifle's length of concealed foes, for what knowledge he has to the contrary; knowing, too, with painful accuracy, the detection of his presence would reward him with a sudden and violent death, and if he breathes no faster and feels his limbs as free and his spirits as light as when taking a favorite promenade, he is more fitted for a hero than I am.

In the agony of that moment—in the sudden and utter helplessness I felt to discover my true bearings—I was about to let myself gently into the stream and breast its current, for life and death. There was no alternative. The northern pickets must be reached in safety before the morning broke, or I should soon swing between heaven and earth from some limb of the black forest in which I stood.

At that moment the low, sullen bay of a bloodhound struck my ear. The sound was reviving; the fearful stillness broken. The uncertain dread fled before the certain danger. I was standing to my middle in the shallow bed of the river, just beneath the jutting banks. After the pause of a few seconds I began to creep, mechanically and stealthily, down the stream, followed, as I knew from the rustling of the grass and frequent breaking of twigs, by the insatiable brute; although by certain uneasy growls, I felt assured he was at fault. Something struck against my breast. I could not prevent a slight cry from escaping me as on stretching out my hands I grasped the gunwale of a boat moored beneath the bank. Between suprise and joy I felt half choked. In an instant I had scrambled on board and began searching for the painter in the bow, in order to cast her from her fastenings.

Suddenly a bright ray of moonlight—the first gleam of hope in that black night!—fell directly on the spot revealing the silvery stream, my own skiff, (hidden there ten days before,) lightning the deep shadows of the verging wood, and on the log half-buried in the bank, and from which I had that moment cast the line that had bound me to it, the supple form of the crouching bloodhound, his red eyes gleaming in the moonlight, jaws distended and poising for the spring. With one dart the light skiff was yards out in the stream, and the savage after it. With an oar I aimed a blow at his head, which, however, he eluded with ease. In the effort thus made the boat careened over towards my antagonist, who made a desperate effort to get his forepaws over the side, at the same time seizing hold of the gunwale with his teeth.

Now or never was the time to get rid of the accursed brute. I drew my revolver, and placed the muzzle between his eyes, but hesitated to fire, for that one report might bring on me a volley from the shore. Meantime the strength of the dog careened the frail craft so much that the water rushed over the side, threatening to swamp her. I changed my tactics, threw my revolver into the bottom of the skiff, and grasped my "bowie," keen as a Malay creese, and glittering, as I released it from the sheath, like a moonbeam on the stream. In an instant I had severed the throat of the hound, cutting through brawn and muscle to the nape of the neck. The tenacious wretch gave a wild, convulsive leap out of the water, then sunk and was gone.

Five minutes' pulling landed me on the other side of the river, and in an hour after, without further accident, I was among friends, encompassed by the northern lines. That night I related at head-quarters the intelligence I had gathered, and in a few days shall again be gleaning knowledge in the southern camp.

At a colored ball the following notice was posted on the door-posts: "Tickets 50 cts. No gentleman admitted unless he comes himself."

Those tickets were evidently not transferable.

TESTIMONIAL.
To Whom it May Concern:

I AM now over 60 years of age. Three years since I became blind from Cataract in both eyes. Soon after I became blind an attempt to restore my sight by an operation was made in this city, which was unsuccessful. Hearing of the reputation of Dr. Folsom, as a skillful oculist, I was induced to consult him, though with very little hopes of relief. The doctor proposed an operation, to which I consented, which resulted in almost Perfect Restoration of Sight to one eye. He afterwards performed an operation on the other eye with success. I am now enjoying the inestimable blessing of good vision, and a much better general state of health than before. THOS. VAUGHN.

Occupation of Fairfax.

The army under Gen. McDowell, composed of 53,000 troops, successfully advanced from Arlington Heights on Wednesday, and before night occupied Fairfax Court House, extending its lines three miles towards Manassas Junction. The obstructions on the route were less than was expected, there being no masked batteries, and the number of trees reported to have been cut down for the purpose of impeding the progress of the army, delayed it very little. The rebel troops consisted mostly of South Carolinians. They made no resistance, firing a few wild shots which wounded four of our men, and then retreated, leaving their army stores and camp equipage.

The distance from Fairfax Court House to Manassas Junction is about eighteen miles.

There is a rumor of a battle to-day at Centerville, nine miles from Fairfax. This may be so, as it is the policy of the enemy to delay the general battle at Manassas Junction until the arrival of Johnston and his army from Winchester, if he should escape Gen. Patterson.

The immense battery of thirty pounders which it appears McDowell has with him, will do terrible execution upon the columns of the enemy, when a combat takes place.

The news from the seat of war will be looked for with intense interest for the next ten days.

MISSOURI.—There must be a little more blood-letting in central Missouri, before the rebels will be quiet. It is reported that the telegraph lines west and south of Syracuse, which is twenty-five miles south of Boonville, are torn down so generally that the Pacific railroad company has abandoned all hope of repairing them for the present. A majority of the people west of Syracuse, on both sides of the Missouri River, are secessionists, and say they will never willingly submit to Lincoln's government, nor will they allow telegraphs or railroads to remain intact, for the use of Lincoln's army. Many of them say that the oath they are required to take by the U. S. troops, is a mere form of words, and not at all binding. It is thought there will not be a quorum at the meeting of the state convention in Jefferson City, next Monday.

☞ Kentucky neutrality will not last much longer. Its snaky qualities are more and more apparent every day. There will be a rapture soon between the unionists and disunionists. It will probably grow out of the shipment of men and provisions to the Southern army on the Nashville railroad, which the Collector at Louisville is trying to prevent.

☞ There are statements in the papers that Gen. Wool is deprived of all participation in the active duties of the war, because, at the beginning of it he took measures to prevent certain New York speculators from fleecing the government. They have had sufficient influence to keep him at Troy, doing nothing. It is also said that the matter will be investigated by a Congressional committee. The public has been surprised at the position which has been assigned to so experienced a soldier as Gen. Wool, but have generally supposed there was good reason for it, and perhaps there is. Time will determine.

☞ Recent dispatches from the seat of war in western Virginia inform us that the rebels have not been driven out of the Kanawha valley. The troops for this service had not left the Ohio river on Monday, and were waiting for means of transportation. Since the defeat of the main body of the rebels by McClellan, those in south-western Virginia may be expected soon to take "French leave," without waiting for notice to go.

SOUTHERN CHIVALRY.—The following is a specimen of the boasted chivalry of the south. We can hardly decide which is the greatest barbarism, the wretch who is the principal actor in the tragedy, or the scoundrel who tells the story:

"An old trapper, of high respectability, who has resided in Hampton for many years, named Benjamin Phillips, was coming up the road near Hampton in the forenoon, armed with a double-barreled gun. Seeing a buggy some distance ahead of him he slipped into the woods and awaited its approach. He soon discovered two officers sitting in the buggy, and saw from their appearance that they were in no condition to do him much harm. They hailed him as they passed, asking him who he was. He replied by telling them to pass on. As soon as they did so, the old man let fly both barrels of his gun in rapid succession into the back of the buggy. A shriek was heard, and one of the officers leaped out and took to the woods. The other fell forward, and the buggy passed on. Mr. Phillips is of the impression that the shriek was the death-yell of the individual who remained in the buggy. Mr. Phillips had previously killed, at different times, nine of the federal scouts."—Richmond (Va.) Whig.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Special to Tribune.—The Secretary of War to-day accepted fifteen additional regiments from Pennsylvania.

The Third Wisconsin Regiment at Buffalo.

The third regiment of this state arrived at Buffalo last Sunday afternoon, and was hospitably entertained as the depot, by the citizens of that city, and the military. The Express thus speaks of the regiment:

While the Wisconsin boys are at the tables satisfying their appetites and quenching their thirst, we can say a word concerning them and the regiment they compose. We feel rather enthusiastic about them, after having studied their looks and held conversation with many of them. A nobler body of men, in every respect, both moral and physical, never went forth to battle in the world's history. It made one's bosom swell with pride of country, and the tear of exultation start to the eye, to look at their ranks and think of the impregnability of the nation defended by such sons as these. It was not the stalwart strength of their forms which struck the eye so much as the honest manhood and the earnest patriotism written in their faces. In every countenance there was the look of the true Union volunteer, whose musket was shouldered, not for the wages of the soldier, but to do the duty of the citizen in the hour of national danger.

Said one of the men with whom we conversed, speaking of his companions in general, "they're not only stout and brave fellows, with hardy limbs and courageous hearts, but they are good boys. They don't drink, nor they ain't rough nor wild in their habits. The greater part of them are temperance men, and they are always well behaved. I don't believe that when we left our camp there was a man who had an enemy in Fond du Lac."

Another told us that the regiment was almost entirely composed of men who were thoroughly used to the rifle; who had lived in the woods, and led hardy lives. Said he "there are dozens of them who can hit a cent, off hand, as far as they can see it, and we can all handle the shooting irons pretty well." And this same speaker, a stalwart backwoodsman of fifty or thereabouts, brown and rugged in features, told us that he had two sons in the regiment. Said he, "I told our colonel to put my oldest boy wherever he wanted a fellow to trust in particularly dangerous places, and when he thought the boy wouldn't answer, to send for the old man."

We might fill a column with reports like these, showing the material of which this splendid regiment is made up, and the feeling by which it is inspired. But it will speak for itself, we have not a doubt, better than we can speak for it; and if our citizens will remember hereafter to note the doings of the third Wisconsin regiment, in the war to which it is going, we will warrant their learning that the country has none nobler in the field.

The regiment is under orders to join the command of Gen. Patterson, who is now at Martinsburg, in the presence of the enemy, under Gen. Johnston; so that there is every probability of its being speedily engaged in the real work of war. This prospect is a very glad one to the men, and they are eager to reach the field.

At Harrisburgh the regiment expect to be armed and uniformed. At present it is without arms of any description, and its uniform consists of a fatigue dress, of drab jean farmers' frocks, pants of the same, or blue overhalls, with grey wide-awake hats, turned up on one side. They have their knapsacks, canteens, &c., and are well supplied with camp equipage. The officers have their horses with them.

Including officers, the regiment is 1,000 strong. It is accompanied by a fine brass band, and an admirable drum corps—altogether 46 musicians. Eleven ladies, wives and daughters of the officers, are going forward with the regiment, intending to proceed as far as possible. Another companion of the regiment is Hon. Mr Hazletine, senator form Columbia county, Wis., who goes as the representative of the governor of the state to look after its welfare and interests, and promote to the utmost the comfort of the men.

THE FOURTH WISCONSIN REGIMENT.—The 4th Wisconsin regiment, another of those splendid turn-outs from that generous and loyal state, left Racine where they had been for some time encamped, on the Chicago and Milwaukee Railroad, yesterday morning, and arrived here, safe and without accident, at about six last evening. There was an immense jam of people at the depot to greet them, and, as they came in, loud cheers and hearty words of welcome were given by our citizens. The 4th is as fine a body of men as has yet started for the wars from Wisconsin. This is praise sufficient, as it is conceded on all sides that no better men, or better uniformed and equipped soldiers, can be produced than those composing the three regiments already in the scene of action from the state of Wisconsin.

The march of the 4th through the city last evening was an ovation that its members may justly feel proud of. Clark street was absolutely lined, on both sides, with ladies and gentlemen, as far as the eye could reach in each direction. The soldierly appearance of the 4th was the subject of general remark. The men marched in good order, pausing at the Sherman House—where the staff and commissioned officers stopped and partook of a collation—the remainder keeping on up Clark street to the depot of the Michigan Southern road, where they embarked for Harrisburg, en route for Virginia, it is supposed. They filled fifteen coaches.—Chicago Times, 16th.

HENRY A. WISE STILL LIVING.—We are at last able to give, says the Wheeling Intelligencer, of the 15th, what is unquestionably the truth in regard to the killing or wounding of the old arch traitor, Henry A. Wise. He is still in the land of the living. Mr. John Woods, son of A. P. Woods of this city, arrived here from Ravenswood on Saturday morning, by steamer. He left Charlottesville, where he was a student at the university, about three weeks ago. He reached Charleston after a great deal of trouble, and left that place on the 4th of July, arriving at Ripley on the 5th. Old Henry A., and his son, O. Jennings Wise were both at Ripley.

On the 8th, a report reached Ripley that a thousand federal troops were marching upon that place from the Ohio river. The Wises, with their seven hundred followers, retreated back upon Charlestown. The report of the killing of Wise and his body guard, reached us on Saturday evening, the 7th, so that it will be seen that he could not have been very badly injured, as he was knocking around Ripley pretty spry for an old man. From other circumstances, we are induced to believe that the whole story about the attack upon Wise's party, is a sheer fabrication. It is scarcely possible that he could have been at Sisssonville at all.

TOO THICK WITH FOLKS.—"Where is your house?" asked a traveler in the depth of one of the "old solemn wildernesses" of the Great West. "House?—I ain't got no house." "Well, where do you live?" "I live in the woods—sleep on the Great Government Purchase, eat raw bear and wild turkey, and drink out of the Mississippi!" And he added: "It is getting too thick with folks about here. You're the second man I have seen within the last month; and I hear there is a whole family come in about fifty miles down the river. I'm going to put out into the woods again."

Bogus coin is being circulated in large quantities in Buffalo.

Last Night's Report.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

SENATE.—Mr. Latham introduced a bill to secure a speedy passage of troops and munitions of war to the Pacific coast. Referred to select committee on Pacific railroad.

Mr. Pearce presented a memorial from the police commissioners of Baltimore now confined at Fort McHenry. The memorialists solemnly declare that they have always discharged their duties faithfully and impartially, and in obedience to the laws and constitution, and all evidence to the contrary is false, and further declares that the grounds set up by Gen. Banks for their arrest has no foundation, in fact that Marshal Kane is a gentleman of integrity and worth, and that no body of men are less liable to be charged of unlawful combinations than the police force of Baltimore. The memorialists submit that the proclamation by which they were arrested has no warrant in law, and they ask the interposition of congress.

Mr. Pearce said memorialists were known to him, and he believed them to be men of highest integrity, and faithful to the constitution. He did not believe that any proof could be furnished against them. Memorial was referred to judiciary committee.

Mr. Grimes from committee on naval affairs, introduced a bill to provide temporary increase of the navy.

Mr. Foote said there was a pressing necessity for the passage of the bill. The bill authorized the secretary of the navy to purchase or have such vessels as might be necessary during the war to suppress rebellion and render an effectual blockade. It appropriates $3,000,000. Bill passed.

The house resolution regarding adjournment on Friday, was taken up and laid on the table till time for consideration.

The bill to provide for the better organization of military establishments was taken up.

Mr. Wilson offered an amendment to the whole bill, comprising nearly all amendments heretofore offered, and further providing a retiring list for the army.

Mr. Grimes offered an amendment providing a retiring list for the navy.

Mr. Hale spoke against any increase of salaries and although he was willing to have a retired list, this was no time to establish it.

Mr. Wilson, at some length, advocated the passage of the bill as amended.

Mr. Grimes' amendment was adopted.

Mr. Grimes offered an amendment to extend the retiring list to the marine corps of the navy. Adopted.

Mr. Rice offered an amendment that the Brevet Lieutenant General be retired and there be no reduction of salary or sustenance. Agreed to; yeas 28, nays 11.

Mr. Sherman moved to give the retired list pay and no other allowance.

Mr. Sherman's amendment was adopted.

Mr. Hale moved to amend so that officers having the brevet rank would not receive any increase of pay. Agreed to.

Mr. Baker moved that Lieutenant General Scott be excepted.

Mr. Nesmith saw no reason for excepting.

Mr. Saulsbury said he should vote for it because he was glad that the Great Captain had not resigned and taken part with the seceded states. Agreed to; yeas 30, nays 6.

Mr. Foster moved to strike out the provision relative to the superintendent of the military academy so as to leave it as it is. Agreed to.

Mr. Hale moved to strike out all that portion relating to the retiring list of the army and navy. After a long discussion, the amendment was disagreed to; yeas 11, nays 27.

HOUSE.—Most of to-day has been consumed in discussing resolutions and appointing a committee to examine and inquire into all contracts made or to be made by the war department.

Mr. Kellogg, of Illinois, offered his objections to the resolutions, on the ground that there were no specific charges.

Mr. Van Wyck said there were specific charges of fraud by contractors. He understood without doubt, that within two short months, there has been a system of plunder, which, for audacity and wickedness, has never been surpassed. In this connection, he referred to the excess of pay for beef, hats, &c. He charged no department with complicity, but he would say there were men that had taken advantage of the necessity of the times, and plundered the country. Take the case of the steamboat Catiline—not worth more than $10,000. She was chartered for $10,000 per month, and $50,000 was to be paid for her in case she was lost. He would tell the house and the country, that the war department desired an examination into this affair.

Mr. Kellogg moved to lay the resolution on the table. Motion was disagreed to by 48 against 77. The resolution was then adopted by yeas 81, nays 41.

The House then went into committee of the whole on the bill to provide for increased revenue from imports, to pay the interest on the public debt, and for other purposes.

Mr. Morrill, of Vt, would vote for the proposed tariff bill, although it did not meet with his cordial support.

Mr. Pendleton offered an amendment to reduce the duty on iron.

Mr. Ward effectually endeavored to amend so that the bill take effect on the first of September instead of immediately; without action the committee rose.

Mr. Vallandigham gave notice of bills to regulate and enforce the writ of habeas corpus.

Special despatch to the Chicago Times.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., July 17.

Our forces under Gen. Patterson have had a splendid skirmish with Johnston and his rebel followers, putting them to flight in the most headlong manner.

Gen. Patterson, ascertaining that the rebel general, Johnston, was at Bunker Hill with a considerable force, started forward on Sunday night with a view to giving him battle, and dislodging him from his position.

By some unaccountable means information was conveyed to the enemy of this advance, whereupon Jonhston at once commenced breaking camp, intending to fall back on Winchester.

Gen. Patterson's advance was, however, too rapid for him, and the result was a partial surprise.

The federal advance was composed of 3 Pennsylvania regiments, a company of regular cavalry, and the celebrated Rhode Island battery of light artillery under Col. Tompkins.

A body of rebel cavalry, from six to eight hundred strong, under Col. Stewart, attempted a flank movement on the twenty-third Pennsylvania regiment, just as they were approaching Bunker Hill, not discovering the strength with which they were supported.

They came galloping down a cross road at a furious pace, evidently sure of a signal victory over the single regiment of infantry they had discovered.

The Pennsylvania troops stood firm, awaiting the charge with fixed bayonets, determined to sell themselvee dearly.

Just as the rebels were upon the point of wheeling into the main road, Col. Tompkins brought his artillery to bear upon them with wonderful effect.

They were much surprised at this warm and unlooked for reception, and being thrown entirely off their guard, turned and fled in the utmost disorder.

Col. Thomas' detachment of regular cavalry came up at this moment, and at once gave chase. One captain and two or three privates were captured. Three of their men were killed, and about a dozen wounded.

Our forces escaped without the loss of a man.

The main body of Gen. Patterson's column were then brought up with dispatch, and separated into two divisions, with orders to proceed with all possible haste to Winchester, one column to take the route by Martinsburg and Charleston to Berryville, so as to cut off any retreat from Winchester to the Blue Ridge mountains, and the other to move down more to the west, and to attack the town from the front.

It is generally believed that the two columns would come upon the town to-day, when a bloody battle will not be unlikely to ensue.

GRAFTON, Va., July 16.

The rebels driven by Gen. Morris from Laurel Hill, still numbering three thousand escaped Gen. Hill near West Union, passing within a mile and a half of his army. He returned to Oakland, and started again to-day in pursuit.

Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.

WASHINGTON, July 16.

The formal movement across the Potomac was inaugurated on gigantic scale to-day. At an early hour the troops were mustered in every camp, and their arms and accoutrements put in the finest order. The bands played their most inspiring airs, and thousands of citizens and strangers poured forth to witness the imposing spectacle. About one o'clock General Scott and staff crossed the river, preceding most of the regiments. The sight was most impressive and grand. The aged General seemed to have renewed his youth. His snowy locks were the only evidence of his venerable age. His eyes sparkled with the fire which a confidence alike in the justice and triumph of his cause had enkindled, and his almost giant stature rendered him conspicuous among the officers around him. The stranger could not mistake the Chief.

The demonstration considered only as a pageant was most successful, and the public are nearly as enthusiastic as over the news or even the sight of some hotly contested battle. All seem to feel that the Rubicon has now been passed and the war actually begun. There are at present fifty-five regiments between the Potomac and Fairfax Court House. The Ohio regiments are with the most advanced columns.

Special despatch to the Chicago Times.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 17.

The main advance of the Federal troops last night was made in three divisions.

The advance was led by General Dixon Miles.

A short engagement was had at Fairfax Court House this forenoon, in which our advance put to route the rebel forces that had been stationed at that point.

They retreated towards Centreville.

Seventeen of their number were killed.

Fairfax Court-House will be occupied to-night by ten thousand Federal troops.

Large quantities of flour and other provisions were captured, together with several pieces of ordinance and some ammunition.

The march from Alexandria was an excessively tedious one, the road being blocked up with all manner of obstructions.—The men, however, displayed the utmost willingness to labor in the removal of the obstructions that had been placed in the way. Details for sapper-and-miner duties were willingly submitted to, and the work cheerfully performed.

When the line reached Fairfax Court-House it was found that the men were too much fatigued to pursue the flying foe.

The enemy are concentrating at Centerville, nine miles further west on the turnpike.

Our troops will engage them at that place to-morrow.

The blow has now been struck, and the design is to push immediately forward, looking for an early union with Gen. Patterson's column from the valley of the Shenandoah, and Gen. McClellan's from west of the Alleghany Mountains, when the united force, invincible against any body the rebels can muster, will march on Richmond, and sweep the last vestige of secessionism from Virginia.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

A party of ladies and gentlemen from this city have just returned from Fairfax Court-House, whither they went, in the rear of the Grand Army, this morning.

They report that the rebels abandoned the place with the utmost precipitancy upon the approach of the Federal forces, leaving behind them large supplies of flour and beef, and a number of guns. These fell a prey to our victorious army.

Washington is wild with excitement over the result of the expedition.

Gen. Tyler, who led the column from Arlington Heights, occupies Falls Church, a settlement just without the District of Columbia, and about six miles west of Arlington, and also Vienna, on the Alexandria and Leesburg Railroad, four miles north of Fairfax Court-House.

His movements were admirably arranged, and most successfully carried out.

The enemy fled before him without giving his men a chance to disply their abilities in the sharp-shooting line.

The advance from Alexandria and Arlington last night consisted of fifty-three thousand infantry, besides cavalry and light artillery, making in all about fifty-five thousand.

A reserve force of forty thousand is held on the Potomac and in this city. This force can be pushed forward at any moment, if reinforcements shall become necessary.

The Orange and Alexandria Railroad is in perfect repair so far as Berks Station, five miles east of Fairfax Station, and immense supply trains have been running throughout the day to-day.

Any reinforcements that may be required will be sent out by rail, thus avoiding a tedious march.

The rebels have a force of not less than eighty thousand between here and Richmond, all of whom can be concentrated at Manassas Station if necessary.

A battle is looked for at Manassas.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Gen. Townsend, at the war department, states that Gen. McDowell is in full possession of Fairfax Court House, which he took this afternoon without loss except four wounded. The rebels fled precipitately. They were chiefly South Carolinias. Our army took large quantities of army stores, provisions and camp equipage.

Special despatch to the Chicago Tribune.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Congress has made no real headway to-day. No adjournment this week is probable.

The house considered the tariff modification as recommended by the committee on ways and means, but they did nothing further than adopt an amendment offered by Mr. Arnold, of Illinois, fixing the duty on molasses at three cents instead of five.

Quite a breeze was raised in the house by Mr. Holman's resolution, giving the army contract investigating committee full powers to push their researches into all contracts now made or to be made in any department connected with the war. This was fought persistently by the Pennsylvania members, and by Kellogg, of Ill., who declared he would vote for no investigation which assumed at the start that there was corruption in the war department.

Mr. Van Wyck, chairman of the committee, hoped the house would not shrink from investigating matters which had already developed a degree of wickedness and corruption unparalleled.

The house voted, two to one, to grant the fullest power to the committee. A great many members, however, dodged.

The committee is a strong one, and will act fairly but thoroughly, taking the recess of congress for the work, and extending its researches everywhere where suspicion exists.

PHILADELPHIA, July 17.

A letter from Martinsburg, dated the 14th, says that Gen. Patterson was marching on Winchester by two different routes.

BUNKER HILL, Va., July 15—P. M.

Gen. Patterson's army moved this morning, 21,000 strong, for Winchester, encamping on Bunker Hill on to-night, after a slight skirmish with rebel cavalry.

The march will be resumed on Tuesday morning, and they will encamp at Winchester on the same night.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Herald's dispatch says at 1 o'clock, A. M., the enemy's works in the neighborhood of Fairfax, as far as Centerville, were attacked. Meeting with no resistance, the barricades were easily surmounted, and the roads cleared of trees which had been felled delaying the advance but a few minutes. At a steep hill there were stationed 200 rebel cavalry, who, without waiting to ascertain the strength of the advancing force, fled upon the first appearance of our skirmishers. They found a fortification about half a mile from the court house, consisting of a simple entrenchment extending about 400 yards each side of the road. It was pierced for eight guns. This had been occupied for about three weeks, by the 2d and 3d South Carolina regiments, under Gen. Bonham. On approaching this point our skirmishers had a brush with those of the rebels, in which one man received a flesh wound, and a rebel officer was captured. The advance of Burnsides' brigade reached the fortification in time to make a South Carolina officer prisoner.

The command then proceeded to Fairfax. The rebel flag was still flying at the court house when the advance of the division, with the band of the 1st Rhode Island regiment playing national airs, entered the village. It was taken down by some of the 2d Rhode Island resgiment, and handed to Gov. Sprague, and transmitted by him to Gen. McDowell as a regimental trophy.

GERMANTOWN, July 17—1 P. M.

The 1st Division of the Grand Aarmy under Gen. Tyler commenced moving at half past 5 this A. M. About a mile from the village a heavy obstruction was discovered in the road. In less than twenty minutes the whole of the barracade was removed.

The rebels abandoned their position as soon as Gen. Schenck's column commenced moving.

Hunt's Hill, some 2½ miles west of Vienna, was reached the enemy evidently still retreating.

A thick piece of timber was entered, in an opening of which was tangible evidences of the haste with which the rebels had retreated, for here were found a large number of blankets, pistols, guns, &c.

The column was about pushing on when the scouts reported a battery of several pieces, less than half a mile ahead.

Meantime other scouts came in and reported that the rebels had precipitatedly abandoned the battery, and were retreating in haste. The enemy disappeared and the entrenchments were quietly entered and taken possession of by the skirmishers. The position was a very strong one and could have easily been defended. The division will move on this p. m., to the vicinity of Centerville, where the enemy is said to be in strong forces.

2:30 P. M.—Gen. McDowell and staff has just arrived. All four divisions will move on towards the Junction to-morrow.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

The President has appointed John Armstrong postmaster.

FORT MONROE, July 17.

Steamers from Norfolk were seen landing troops troops this morning at Sewall's Point, where it is apparent that formidable preparations are being made to annoy our shipping and perhaps the fortress itself.

There are undoubtedly masked batteries at Willoughby Point, and opposite Rip Raps. These preparations will, however, be ineffectual in view of the terrible engines of destruction to be brought to bear against the rebels opposite the fortress in case they attempt to disturb us. Sewall's Point has no strategetic importance. Norfolk and Portsmouth are on the road to Richmond, but should the confederates annoy Old Point, they will be at once routed.

Two negroes, escaped from Big Point last night, bring report that the rebels are in large force opposite Newport News.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

A bill was introduced that all prepaid letters to the soldiers, addressed to them at the point where they are stationed, may, whenever possible, be sent to any other point without further charge. The bill passed.

Mr. Pendleton from the Judiciary Committee reported a bill for the relief of the Ohio volunteers. It provides for paying them at the time they arrive at the place of rendezvous, instead of from the time when they were sworn in, which was twelve days afterwards.

An amendment was also made directing the war department to pay the militia of other States similarly situated. The bill was then passed.

SENATE.—Secretrry Forney called the senate to order and stated that he had a note from the Vice President saying that he should be absent for the rest of the session.

A bill to provide for an assistant secretary of the navy was taken up, and after a short debate, was passed.

Mr. Hale moved to take up the bill for the better organization of the marine, which was agreed to. The amendments of the naval committee were adopted, and the bill passed.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

HOUSE.—Mr. Washburne, from the committee on commerce, reported a bill to remit fines and penalties in certain cases, incurred by reason of the closing of the southern ports, and consequently no collectors are there to give the proper papers to vessels leaving these ports. Bill passed.

Mr. Sheffield reported bills supplementary to acts to protect commerce and punish piracy—referred.

On motion of Mr. Elliot, a resolution was passed instructing the committee on commerce to inquire into the expediency of closing, by an act of congress, certain ports in the rebellous states, with leave to report by bill or otherwise.

WASHINGTON, July 17.

Special to Herald.—Senator Simmons of Rhode Island, has prepared an entirely new tariff bill, which he intends to give as a substitute for the Hale bill, raising duties 10 per cent on all articles, when the duty will not exceed 50 per cent.

SYRACUSE, Mo., July 18.

The rumor current yesterday that a battle had taken place near Georgetown, between the Home Guards and rebels under Magoffin, proved to have been a hoax, started by rebels who gave out that Syracuse and Florence, a town 10 miles south of this place, were to be burned last night. Our citizens kept watch all night, but there was no disturbance.

Large numbers of men are reported as flying to Magoffin's aid.

LOUISVILLE, July 17.

Special despatch from Pensacola, dated 14th, says:—

Capt. Clauter, Montgomery Mounted Rifles, fired on the launch of a federal steamer near East Pass this a. m., killing several men, including the commanding officer.

WASHINGTON, July 18.

Special to the Post.—A courier from McDowell's headquarters reports that the army marched early this a. m., for Centerville. Gen. McDowell said last night that he believed that the rebels would fight there.

It is reported that the rebels under Johnston endeavored to effect a junction with Beauregard. Scouts report 30,000 to 40,000 rebels at Centerville and Manassas.

Special to Commercial.—Rumored that there has been an engagement at Centerville, but unconfirmed. The battery which accompanies McDowell consists of 8, 32-pounders. The largest field batery in the service.

The Markets.

NEW YORK, July 18.

A PATRIOTIC FAMILY.—A Washington dispatch to the Philadelphia Enquirer says that Brig. Gen. Issac Staat, late of Newport, R. I., had twenty-two children—sixteen of whom were boys, and nine of them are in the military and naval service. Four of them are in the Rhode Island regiment, four in the Massachusetts, and one in the 18th New York. The father was in the Mexican war, and died in 1851, leaving one hundred and twenty descendants.

UNION IN GEORGIA.—The Louisville Democrat says: We have received several letters from Georgia, about our daily and weekly papers. They all express an anxious wish for the reconstruction of the Union. We would gladly publish extracts from these letters, were it not that by so doing we might prejudice our friends; but we feel assured of this, that let the question once be fairly put, and the Empire State of the south will vote for a reconstruction.

Mr. Bright, M. P., followed Mr. Cobden in a speech at Rockdale, Eng., a few days ago, and took occasion to condemn the policy of the British government in giving encouragement to the late war against Russia. But he said:

"There is one thing—we did not breed any great military hero in the war, and we cannot be too thankful for that. (Laughter.) There is nothing in any country, depend upon it, so noxious as a great military hero."

HOW TO PURIFY RANCID LARD.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman furnishes the following receipe: "We had some 40 pounds rancid lard, which was valueless as it was. Knowing that the antiseptic quality of the chloride of soda, I procured three ounces, which was poured into a pailful of soft water, and when hot the lard added. After boiling it thoroughly together for an hour or two, it was set aside to cool. The lard was taken off when nearly cold, and was subsequently boiled up. The color was restored to an alabaster white, and the lard was as sweet as a rose."

HAPPY ISLANDERS.—By a late census it appears there are some 900 inhabitants, permanent settlers, on the islands on the southern shore of Lake Erie, mostly on Putin Bay, Kelly's North and Middle Bass Islands. There is not a doctor, a lawyer, nor a preacher among them; nor is there a sick person. A more happy, healthy, prosperous community is not to be found on the face of the earth.—Buffalo Express.

Sunday School Picnic at Johnstown.

On Wednesday last, the Congregational and Methodist Episcopal Sunday Schools, those of Milton, the Sunday Schools of North Johnstown, Johnstown Centre and Johnstown, met in one of nature's beautiful groves, on land of Mr. Newhall, a short distance north of the county house, to enjoy one of those festive occasions which have become fixed institutions of the day and age.

In the forepart of the day, the weather was quite forbidding, which had a tendency to prevent many from joining in the exercises, but about 11 o'clock the rain ceased; and the four, the two and the one-horse vehicles, bearing their appropriate banners—not forgetting a generous sprinkling of stars and stripes—poured into the woods with their living freight, until six hundred or more were in close and social proximity.

A organization was effected by the choice of D. R. Spooner, Esq., as president of the day, when short, impromptu speeches were made at intervals, to the children and assemblage, more particularly the former, by Rev. Messrs. King, Jones, Watts and Davis, and Messrs. Hulse, Cary and Boynton, interspersed with singing by choir and children, led by Mr. R. Cheney, and accompanied by the sweet tones of a melodeon.

A table 200 feet long had been previously prepared, but it was found quite too short to receive all the good edibies which the wives and daughters had fixed up to cheer the inner man, and give strength to physical organizations.

The day passed off very pleasantly, without accident; and, after singing the "Star Spangled Banner," all retired in good order, doubtless well pleased with themselves and with each other. ‡

Advices from Pekin, (China,) to April 24th via Russia, say the insurgents are making considerable progress. They had beaten the Imperialists in a battle, and were marching rapidly on the capital.

The accounts from all parts of England, with reference to the grain crop, continue favorable.

The cabin passage from Quebec to Liverpool, by the Great Eastern, is only $65.

The Raleigh (N. C.) Register of the 10th says the steamer Winslow captured, off Cape Hatteras, on the 3d the schooner Herbert Martin, of Barnstable, Mass., with a cargo of sugar and molasses, valued at $30,000.

The Memphis Avalanche of the 12th inst., has a story that the privateer Sumter had entered Berwick Bay, bringing 55,000 Enfield rifles, and a number of rifled cannon, taken from an English ship bound for New Orleans, which had been ordered away from Balize by the blockading squadron.

AN OLD POST OFFICE CLERK.—There is a clerk in the New York post-office who was employed some forty years ago to carry all the southern mails across the North River, on their way to the south. The accounts which he gives of his performances in that capacity are highly amusing, when compared with the extensive mail service of later years. He used to take all the mail bags in a small skiff, and scull his own boat. In the winter season, when the passage was obstructed by floating ice, he says he would often be compelled to haul his boat upon huge cakes of ice, push it across, and then embark again with his treasures.

Skirmish Between Indiana and Georgia Troops at Laurel Hill.

The correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, with Gen. McClellan's column, thus describes the skirmish between the Indiana and Georgia troops at Laurel Hill, on the 10th, prior to the general engagement:

Descending from our position in the afternoon, we found that a couple of companies of skirmishers had been sent out to meet the advance of the bodies we had seen marching down the road out of the enemy's camp. The skirmishing, which had been kept up briskly all day, was beginning to be much more lively, and it was evident that the wooded hill opposite our breastwork, and just beyond the village, was full of the enemy. Their fire seemed directed not only against our skirmishers, but also against the artillerymen standing at their guns, and the troops within the breastworks. Going down to the artillery, I found the balls whistling overhead and striking as far back as the position of the Seventh Indiana. Several soldiers had been struck by spent balls. Finally a bullet struck the saber of an artillery officer. This was getting a little too warm, and rapidly sighting the gun, he dropped a shell in the wood in the direction from which the bullet came. For a little while the enemy seemed repulsed; then they returned and began a sharp fire on our skirmishers. To aid the latter another shell was thrown towards the rebels. Our boys instantly sprang forward the moment the shell burst, and poured in a galling volley upon the enemy, picking off particularly the mounted officers.

As soon as the pieces were discharged the boys hurried back to the trees and fallen logs, behind which they concealed themselves. In their charge they had discovered that it was the Georgia regiment with which they were engaged, backed by a strong force of cavalry.

For a few moments all was quiet; then the rattle of musketry began again, our men apparently giving and taking in about equal proportions. An occasional shot from the enemy was still whistling around the artillery, when Col. Milroy, with the utter recklessness of personal danger characteristic of the man, sprang upon the breastwork, took off his hat and waved his men in the woods back, shouting, "Fall back, boys, we're going to fire another shell."—Standing there on the breastwork, his stalwart form and full Colonel's uniform made him a splendid mark, but he seemed to have no conception that he could be shot at.—The skirmishers made some reply from the woods (two or three hundred yards distant) which he could not understand; and there he stood, drawn up to his full height, with his head inclined forward, listening intently till he distinguished, amid the din of the small arms, the shout of the boys, "Fire more to the right." The gun was changed to the direction indicated, and another bomb sent flying into the midst of the rebels. Instantly our boys sprang forward, as the Georgians ran from the bursting shell, and poured in a deadly volley. For a few moments the fire was incessant, and our fellows were seen pushing farther and farther up into the woods. Suddenly they came flying back, and took refuge behind the logs and trees. The artillery threw another shell, and the boys sprang forward again, charged upon the scattering Georgians, drove them beyond their own intrenchments on the top of the hill, and actually chased them within half a mile of their camp!

There they kept up a straggling fire on the rebels till dusk, when they fell into line and marched down to camp as jolly and indifferent as if they were not right under the eye of the enemy they had been fighting.

Altogether this skirmish was a most spirited affair. The portions of two companies engaged (one from the 14th Ohio and the other from the 9th Indiana, with stragglers from several of the other regiments,) bore themselves nobly, and proved a fair match for the crack Georgia regiment, backed as it was with their cavalry. The enemy had every advantage. They were in possession of a high hill covered with a dense forest; they had their breastworks erected on the top of the hill, and their cavalry was ready to charge upon our skirmishers whenever they ventured out from behind their trees, and attempted to advance in anything like military order. It was our shells that did the business. The Georgians couldn't stand bombs, and after the first explosion, it was utterly impossible for their officers to rally them.

Our boys stood fire nobly. In fact, during the skirmish, but before any shells had been thrown, a Georgian, who was behind a tree some distance from one of our men, called out to him, "What troops are you?" Our soldier squinted around his tree, and seeing that there was no chance for a shot at his questioner, replied: "Ohio and Indiana volunteers." "Volunteers! hell," exclaimed the Georgian, "you needn't tell me that volunteers stand fire that way!"

The day's skirmish presented some instances of extraordinary daring. Perhaps the most astounding was that of a fellow who undertook to furnish the news to the rebels. I did not witness it myself, as it occurred while I was off on the hill, watching the enemy's camp, but I was assured by dozens who did see it, that one of the Milroy's Swamp Devils, (as the boys of the 9th Indiana are called), took a paper and deliberately walked up the road at the foot of the hill, on which the enemy was placed, till he got within convenient talking distance. Then asking them if they would like to have the news, and they having answered in the affirmative, he unfolded his paper and began, "Great battle at Manassas Gap; rebels completely routed; one thousand killed, ten thousand wounded, and nearly all the rest taken prisoners; all traitors to be hung and their property confiscated!" By this time the bullets began to rain down upon him rather thickly, and he beat a rapid retreat to a convenient tree, carefully folding up his paper as he went, and shouting back that if they would come over to camp he would give them the balance of the news!

HOW VIRGINIA LOOKS TO A NORTHERN MAN.—The portion of the state of Virginia that we have seen, near Arlington Heights, does not compare favorably with historical sketches. The soil is all but worthless.—The wheat and other crops would be looked upon by north-western tillers of the soil, as a failure—almost valueless. Nothing but wild fruit seems to flourish in this section; it may be accorded to the fact of this being a portion of the land first settled in Virginia. A great portion of the land thus far, however, has evidently been discarded. It is worn out. Blackberries, wortleberries, blueberries, &c., grow in abundance here. The forests which are densely thick are pine and cedar, some few oak or ash are to be met with unfrequently. None of those romantic Virginia cottages we have so often read of, and seen pictured in many of the good old school books, have as yet greeted my view.—La Grosse Republican Cor.

STRIKING PROOF OF PUBLIC CONFIDENCE.—We have seen nothing which has so strikingly displayed public confidence in the government and its financial administration, in the great struggle in which it is embarked for the Union and constitution, as the promptness with which the sum of five millions of dollars was advanced to the secretary of the treasury, in New York, on Tuesday last, in response to a call for that sum—on such liberal terms, too, in the face of the great loan of two hundred and fifty millions about to be authorized by congress.

It was after business hours on Monday, the 8th inst., that Secretary Chase sent the following telegraphic dispatch to the assistant treasurer at New York:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, July 8.

John J. Cisco, New York, will issue six per cent. treasury notes at sixty days, to the amount of five millions dollars for five millions in coin. Please make arrangements forthwith. S. P. CHASE.

The dispatch was received the following morning, and Mr. Cisco immediately called a meeting of the leading bank officers and started a subscription, and before the close of business hours of the same day, the following dispatches were sent to the secretary, and reached Washington before he left the department for dinner:

NEW YORK, July 9.

To Hon. S. P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury:—I have obtained the subscription for the entire amount of five millions. Over three millions have already been paid in. JOHN J. CISCO.

NEW YORK, July 9.

S. P. Chase, Secretary of the Treasury:—The five millions are secured.

JOHN A. STEVENS,
Prest. of Bank of Commerce.

We doubt whether the history of the department shows an instance of similar dispatch in negotiations.—National Intelligencer.

THE GRAIN TRADE OF MILWAUKEE.—The Sentinel of Tuesday says that reducing flour to wheat, the shipments of wheat from January 1st to July 14th, in each of the past three years, compares thus:

	Bus. Wheat.
1861	7,026,966
1860	3,040,460
1859	1,520,866

Receipts from the wheat crop of 1860, at Milwaukee to date, amount to 13,270,720 bushels, exclusive of deliveries by wagons.

RECEIVED A KICKING.—On Saturday night, a tall, nondescriptal specimen of humanity entered Monument Square as the band attached to Col. Lyle's Regiment was playing the "Star Spangled Banner." After the tune had been played our hero began hissing, and called for "Dixie." A soldier standing near handed his gun to a comrade, approaching the Dixieite, gave him an excellent kicking.

The operation was witnessed by several hundred persons, who were highly amused at it. Dixie slunk away from the neighborhood, looking as mean as a sheep stealing cur.—Baltimore Clipper.

HOW GEN. GARNETT WAS KILLED.—Gen. Garnett was shot by a sergeant of the 7th Indiana regiment, named Burlinghame, at a distance of about two hundred yards. Only one man, says the Wheeling Intelligencer, was near the general at the time, a beardless young man from Georgia, the troops having refused to rally. The Georgian was also killed at the same instant, he and his companion falling in different directions, feet to feet.—Cincinnati Gazette, 17th.

Some of the letters from volunteers are highly interesting, and cannot fail, in many instances, to cause the most sedate to smile at some of the incidents of soldiers' life.—One letter says to a friend, "my wife came on to see me at our camp. Thank heaven, she brought needles and thread with her. My rag-lan had nearly played out. My pants have been drilled to death. I have been walking in my boot-legs for three weeks. I wish my wife was a shoemaker. The boys will soon have their new harness. We are as happy as bobtailed horses in fly me."

LIEUT. M. F. MAURY.—This much petted traitor was an honorary member of the Marine Society of New York city. At their late regular quarterly meeting, Capt. Tinkham, secretary of the society, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the name of M. F. Maury, lately lieutenant in the United States navy, be stricken from our printed and written books, and blotted out by drawing black lines through the same, as being unworthy to be retained on the rolls of our society, by reason of his dastardly and traitorous conduct in deserting his country's flag at the very commencement of the existing rebellion, devised by a band of disappointed political robbers and traitors.

ABUSE OF LIBERALITY.—The Philadelphia correspondent of the New York Tribune says a woman has been detected in drawing pay from the volunteer fund for three husbands, while others have been allowed for five, six and seven children, when they had but one, and in some instances none. Thus it is that peculation of the public purse seems to rule from Floyd up to the commonest loafer.

To the Land Owners of Janesville.

Being about to leave for my post at Galway, Ireland, if those citizens having cheap lands for sale in this state, will furnish me with particulars, of the lowest price, terms of payment, quantity, quality, location, &c., I will most probably be enabled to find Irish purchasers, to whom my extensive knowledge of this country and my having written so copiously on it, enables me to give valuable information, and thus promote the best interests of all parties concerned. As for salubrity of climate and adaptation for agriculture, I think Wisconsin superior to any other western state, and my numerous friends here may rest assured that their beautiful "Bower City of the West," with its many educational and business facilities shall not be overlooked or forgotten. McKey & Bro.'s July Circular.

McKEY & BRO'S.

THIS is the third arrival of goods received this Spring and Summer by our house. The business we have done since the 1st day of March

HAS DOUBLED

that of former years, for the same period; all owing to the fact that we purchase our goods for nett cash. The stock now coming to hand was purchased at the

Greatest Sacrifice,

less than half the cost of importation, by E. McKey, who has been east for the past two months. We have also a resident buyer in New York city, exclusively for the purpose of picking up the

in merchandize.

The immense rush to our house recently, is sufficient evidence in itself that we labor for the Benefit of the People.

We still continue to deal out to the community those great and incomparable bargains; for instance, we have in stock and shall continue to sell as usual, notwithstanding the great advance on Cotton Goods,

50,000 Yards of the Best Prints

in the United States, consisting of

MERRIMACK, COCHECO, PHILLIP ALLEN'S, SPRAGUES

and every other good brand in the market, at 10 cents per yard, worth 1 shilling to-day in New York, Chicago or Milwaukee. Also,

20,000 Yds Full Madder Prints

at 8 cents, or 12½ yards for one dollar.

Received this day 50 Bales of

Sheetings, Ticks, Shirtings, Denims, &c., &c.

Anticipating an advance in Cotton Goods, we were induced to invest very largely in the article, enabling us to sell at our usual prices.

300 PIECES BEREGES

of all colors for dresses, to which we call attention. We will sell 12 yards of Berege for 75 cents; just the article for the season; only think, 6¼ cents per yard for Bereges.

175 Pieces Finest Berege DeLaine

in the market, at 20 cents per yard—all new styles—got up for this month expressly. The usual quantity of 1 shilling goods on hand. Please read the annexed attentively. We have this day received 4 cases of French and English

Mulls and Organdies,

cost of importation 56 cents, intended for the southern trade exclusively, and now offered by our house at 25 cents per yard. The patterns are original, and the first time ever offered in this city. About on hand. We offer 10 yards of fast colored Lawn for $1.

10,000 Yards of Lawns

OUR STOCK OF

Dress Silks

is much larger than we have ever had at this season of the year. We offer this day a splendid heavy silk at full yard wide, at 2 shillings per yard, never sold by us less than 3 shillings.

FIFTY CENTS, WORTH ONE DOLLAR.

We are now opening a large lot of

SHAWLS AND CLOAKS,

consisting of Burnous, Shawlettes, Arabs and other styles at a great reduction from former prices.

Our stock of

is now complete, consisting of the following: Robes De Montijo, Erminettes, Paris Poplins, Lustres, Mozambique, Mottled Modena, Milanos, Toile De Naples, Stella and Lucina Seraphines, French Organdies, Lawns, Figured Brilliants, French Calico, English and French Bereges and many other styles not mentioned.

All of the above have been purchased within the past week.

In Carpets, Oil Cloths and House Furnishing

GOODS

we have a full and complete assortment.

It is now conceded that McKey & Bro.'s Clothing House is the place to get Clothing, Hats, Caps, &c., &c.

Our retail stock this day is larger than many Jobbing Houses in New York city.

AN IMMENSE STOCK OF

on hand as usual, cheap.

Our Wholesale Trade has been large, much beyond our expectations, so much so, that we intend adding a large space for that department alone, to meet the wants of the coming Fall Trade.

We purchase for cash and can afford to undersell Western Houses who buy on credit and sell on the same terms, our business being done exclusively for cash.

In conclusion we would say that we never had a more

Complete or Well Selected Stock of Goods

since our commencement in business in this city, and were never more desirous of

REDUCING IT,

thereby offering to the public the

in the annals of merchandize.

Insurance against loss or damage by fire, on Dwellings, Furniture, Stores, Warehouses, Merchandise, Mills, Manufactories, and most other kinds of property, can be effected in this company upon as favorable terms as the nature of the risks and security of policy-holders will admit.

The above is the oldest company doing business in this state, and with peculiar propriety has been denominated "The Old Hartford." As an indemnity to the insured, it refers to a solid million of assets well invested; and if anything were needed to commend it to the public for liberal patronage, we might offer its history of success in business and honorable dealing, with its patrons, for over half a century, as amply sufficient for the purpose.

THE above are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solvency and reliability and honorable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and liable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reinsure their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by Mutual Companies, and a certainty given instead of an uncertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

New York Life Insurance Company,

CASH CAPITAL OVER - - $1,900,000

all well invested for the benefit of Policy holders, so that the profits of this vast sum pay a large proportion of their annual premiums. This is unquestionably the very best Life Company doing business in this state.

By the use of these pills the periodic attacks of Nervous or Sick Headache may be prevented; and if taken at the commencement of an attack immediate relief from pain and sickness will be obtained.

They seldom fail in removing Nausea and Headache to which females are so subject.

They act gently upon the bowels,—removing Costiveness.

For Literary Men, Students, delicate females, and all persons of sedentary habits, they are valuable as a Laxative, improving the appetite, giving tone and vigor to the digestive organs, and restoring the natural elasticity and strength of the whole system.

The CEPHALIC PILLS are the result of long investigation and carefully conducted experiments, having been in use many years, during which time they have prevented and relieved a vast amount of pain and suffering from headache, whether originating in the nervous system or from a deranged state of the stomach.

They are entirely vegetable in their composition, and may be taken at all times with perfect safety without making any change of diet, and the absence of any disagreeable taste renders it easy to administer them to children.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS!

The genuine have five signatures of Henry C. Spalding on each box.

Sold by Druggists and all other dealers in Medicines.

PRICE, 25 CENTS.

All orders should be addressed to

As these Testimonials were unsolicited by Mr. SPALDING, they afford unquestionable proof of the efficacy of this truly scientific discovery.

MASONVILLE, Conn., Feb. 1, 1861.

MR. SPALDING, SIR:

I have tried your Cephalic Pills, and I like them so well that I want you to send me two dollars worth more.

Part of these are for the neighbors, to whom I gave a few out of the first box I got from you.

Send the Pills by mail, and oblige
Your ob't servant,
JAMES KENNEDY.

HAVERFORD, Pa., Feb. 6, 1861.

MR. SPALDING,
SIR:

I wish you to send me one more box of your Cephalic Pills, I have received a great deal of benefit from them.
Yours respectfully,
MARY ANN STOIKHOUSE.

H. C. SPALDING,
SIR:

You will please send me two boxes of your Cephalic Pills. Send them immediately.
Respectfully yours,
JNO. B. SIMONS.

P. S.—I have used one box of your Pills, and find them excellent.

BELLE VERNON, Ohio, Jan. 15, 1861.

HENRY C. SPALDING, Esq.

I wish for some circulars or large show bills, to bring your Cephalic Pills more particularly before my customers. If you have anything of the kind, please send to me.

One of my customers, who is subject to severe Sick Headache (usually lasting two days,) was cured of an attack in one hour by your Pills, which I sent her.
Respectfully yours,
W. B. WILKES.

Useful and Economical.

THE MOST USEFUL

MACHINES AND IMPLEMENTS

In use, are, or have been

SUBJECTS OF PATENTS.

"INVENTORS are public benefactors. To be liberal in their protection, is only to be just towards the rights of property, and tends to increase the public wealth and hastens the progress of practical improvements and of science. * * * The settled doctrine of the courts, now, under the light of large experience, is, to incline to constructions most favorable to patents."—Extract from opinion of U. S. Court in a late Patent Case.

Three-fifths of the earth's surface is covered with water. Vast sums of money and the best mechanical and engineering skill has, for ages, been employed to perfect machinery to bring this universal and indispensable element into convenient use.

May's Patents.

Double and Single Acting Pumps.

For any depth of mining shafts and wells, open or drilled, to 500 feet.

No suction pipes, no packing, no bolts, no pumping rods.

Are composed of two metalic cylinders and two brass valves, and wrought-iron conducting pipe.

Are operated by a wrought-iron lever, and by means of a compensating balance device, they work very easy by hand, wind mill or other power, at whatever depth, and work without noise.

They cannot freeze.

Save Repairs, Vexation and Expense!!!

Those longest in use (about 2 years) need no repairs and exhibit no perceptible wear, and possess valuable qualities unknown in any other pumps.

"Blow winds and crack your cheeks! rage! blow!"
—King Lear.

The winds are found to be the Cheapest Motor in existence and highly serviceable for many mechanical purposes, as pumping, sawing, turning, grinding, &c., &c.

WIND ENGINES, OR MILLS,

LATEST IMPROVEMENTS,

May's Patents.

These ENGINES are perfectly self-regulating and under easy control, independent of their self-governing qualities.

They are STRONG and DURABLE.

No pains or expense has been spaired to simplify and perfect both pumps and engines to make them UNRIVALLED in quality, and ECONOMICAL in price.

Every article, whether Pump or Engine, WARRANTED.

Call and examine thoroughly before buying.

Orders Filled on Short Notice!!

These Pumps and Engines are secured by

Five Patents and Fifteen Claims.

Like most valuable Patents, they are already infringed.

Infringement rigidly prosecuted, unless settled.

CARY'S ROTARY FORCE PUMPS,

for Mills, Factories, &c., and some of the best unpatented pumps, in prices from $2,50 and upwards. Any person with a little mechanical skill can set them up, but competent workmen furnished when desired, at their per diem wages and expenses.

N. B.—Large inducements to active, thorough, competent men, to canvass and supply specific territory, as towns, counties, districts, &c.
Address as above.

From the favorable opinions of Agriculturalists and others using these Engines and Pumps, together and separate, the following are selected:

Pumps, Without Engine,

In a half hour at ordinary pumping speed, I supply my stock of from forty to fifty head of cattle and horses, with one of May's Patent Pumps. Well 70 feet deep, last 30 feet drilled. I can find no fault with this pump, and use it in place of another kind that was very often out of repair. Being composed of few and strong pieces, and built on scientific principles, I think they must be very durable. R. W. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock county, Wis., January 29th, 1861.

I supply with water 690 sheep, some 60 head of cattle and 10 head of horses, with May's Patent Pump. Its great strength, apparent durability and above all the great amount of water it raises in a short time, and its easy working, gives it with me a decided preference over any other pump in the market.
C. M. CLARK.

Whitewater, Walworth Co., Wis., Jan. 31st, 1861.

Since the 1st of October last we have been using one of May's Patent Pumps, and it gives us entire satisfaction. Our well is 120 feet deep and the pump is worked by horse power or by hand. In addition to pumping water for stock and farm purposes, we use large quantities for our Brewery. REEVES & WADDLE.

Middleton, Dane county, Wis., Jan. 22d, 1861.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps in place of a deep well pump of another kind, that was often out of order and worked hard. Well 122 feet deep, 72 feet drilled in solid rock, and pump placed 101 feet from surface. Its great strength and simplicity pleases me, and am surprised and gratified with the large amount of water raised with little labor, 6 to 8 full strokes of the lever filling a bucket. I deem it one of the most valuable improvements of the age for raising water.
JOHN TRACY.

Center, Rock county, Wis., Feb. 27th, 1861.

Pumps, With Engines.

I am using one of May's Patent Pumps and Self-Regulating Wind Engine (or Mill) on one of my farms near Janesville. Well 55 feet deep. Pump and mill used together, or may be separated in a moment. One to two hours daily is sufficient to pump water for my stock. Also, the pump works very easy by hand and is the first one, after trying different kinds, that gives me entire satisfaction. Having no bolts, packing, suction pipe, or pumping rods, and being made heavy and strong, think they must be very durable. A. HOSKINS.

Janesville, Jan. 11th, 1861.

I am using a wind engine, and pump of May's patent in a well 65 feet deep. I deem them very valuable improvements, and agree with Mr. Hoskins in the above expressed opinion. I had been using a Seneca Falls pump that did not answer my purpose.
WM. SCHENCK.

Bradford, Rock Co., Wis., Jan. 24th, 1861.

Engines.

Rock Terrace, Wis., Feb. 6th, 1861.

Since November 1858, I have been using one of May's Patent Wind Engines, pumping water from a well 186 feet deep. The Engine is a powerful one, often pumping fifty barrels of water per day. It stands 110 feet from the well and the power is communicated from the Engine to the well, underground.

I deem these Engines of great value, saving a vast amount of hard manual labor, and as their merits are understood, think they must come into general use.
J. V. ROBBINS.

These pumps and engines have taken first premiums when exhibited in competition at state and county fairs.

Write for price lists &c., and if estimates are wanted give depth of well—open or drilled, and amount of water required. Address as above.

Also for sale, the Patents in the unsold territory for Badger's Portable Grist Mill, Gilmore & May's Rock Drill, Stone Dressing Machine and Quartz Rock Crusher, and Nash & Cutts' Grain Separator. All late Patents, are meritorious and sell freely. Address, J. M. MAY, Agent, &c., as above.
